Bohan Joins Anti-High School Quartet

By Carl Graham

KINGSTON

Michael Bohan, youngest of the five candidates, won a special election Wednesday night to fill the crucial ninth seat on the Board of Education of Kingston City Schools Consolidated.

Bohan, a 28-year-old Vietnam veteran and telephone company employee, polled 2,055 votes to finish 305 ahead of James Attenweiler of Zena, who had 1,750. Joseph Feraca Jr., a former board member and president, finished third with 1,030. Wayne Schubert and Seymour Kassler were never a factor, finishing with 68 and 58 votes respectively.

Bohan, who will be sworn in at tonight's regular board meeting in the Crown Street administrative center, takes over the seat vacated by John Devine, who resigned in July after serving only 22 days of a five year term when his employer transferred him to England. Bohan will serve until June 30, 1980.

Bohan represents the swing vote on the nine-member board on the controversial new high school in Lake Katrine, an issue that split the board into opposing factions and made the special election necessary after the two groups deadlocked in an attempt to fill the vacancy by the usual appointment route.

Bohan was endorsed by members of the "anti-high school quartet," which includes three board members (Josephine McKean, Ronald Meyer, and Richard Skala) elected with Devine in May, plus Fred Hofbauer, the board's vice president. All five candidates had publicly opposed the new high school proposal, although in some cases the statements were qualified, but the endorsement of the anti-school bloc apparently sold Bohan to the majority of the district voters, who have left no doubt about their opposition to the Lake Katrine proposal.

Another endorsement that undoubtedly helped Bohan came from WHITA, the We've Had It Taxpayers Association of Ulster County, which is making an impressive showing in backing winning candidates. In 1974, WHITA backed Hofbauer and Mrs. Doris Mulvin in their winning campaigns, and in May of this year gave mass endorsement to the four successful anti-school candidates.

The 4,961 total voter turnout was unusually heavy for a special election, far above the usual 1,500 to 2,000 who turn out for most elections and second only to the record-setting 7,235 who voted in the regular election in May.

Bohan, interviewed after the election results were final, said he thanked those who had supported him and promised "to do my best in office."

During the campaign he had called for a stronger disciplinary policy, saying that "bathroom fires and gang-type pressures on other students are an area of great concern."

Bohan said that the cost of education is a burden for taxpayers and that they have the right to expect full value for their money.

"Included in this value is the need for educators and administrators to command and receive the proper respect due them. This can only be achieved by a single, no-nonsense disciplinary policy," he said.

The election was close only at one time after the polls closed at 9 p.m. Attenweiler racked up an impressive 258-68 win over Bohan in voting at the Sawkill school, which includes Attenweiler's Zena residence. Votes from the last three schools to report, Kennedy, Washington and Edson, soon reestablished Bohan's margin.

Bohan won nine of the 12 district votes with Attenweiler ahead only in Sawkill, Rifton and Hurley.

Feraca finished only six votes behind Attenweiler in Rifton, but it represented his best showing of the night. He finished second in three districts and third in the nine others.

'Wait-and-See' Attitude By Trustees

SAUGERTIES
Almost unanimously expressing some degree of surprise or shock at reports that an in-depth investigation of Village of Saugerties fiscal affairs has revealed that some $14,000 is not accounted for and that their myor has been asked to plead guilty to grand larceny, Saugerties village trustees are taking a wait-and-see attitude on the matter.

"This is a complete surprise to me," said Trustee John Carnright of the information concerning the investigation by the district attorney's office revealed in Tuesday's Freeman.

Aside from expressing surprise, Trustees Carnright, Charles Steele, Joseph Martin and Deputy Mayor Richard Underhill all indicated they want to wait for information from official sources before commenting on the matter.

"I have my own standard of values and will have an opinion when I know the facts," Steele said.

The Freeman was not able to contact Trustee Walter Keefe.

Trustee Erika Hinchey said she would not take any action in the matter until an indictment is handed up or a guilty plea is entered, if either should happen. "You have to assume a person is innocent," she said, adding that should an indictment be forthcoming against Mayor James V. Gage, it would be best for him to take a leave of absence pending the final outcome.

But, Mrs. Hinchey cautioned, the village went through a grand jury investigation several years ago concerning $1,400 which could not be accounted for and that investigation resulted in the discrepancy being attributed to "sloppy bookkeeping."

It was revealed in Tuesday's Freeman that the probe into the village's fiscal affairs during the period Gage served as village clerk-treasurer has turned up close to $14,000 in missing funds. It was also revealed that Gage has reportedly been offered an opportunity to waive indictment in return for a plea of guilty to second degree grand larceny.

Gage had no comment on the report.

Meanwhile, in a related matter, Mrs. Hinchey has issued a press release explaining why she opposed a recent motion at a village board meeting calling for the hiring of a certified public accountant.

Explaining that while she agrees that if anyone is to assist with the finances of the village is should be a CPA, Mrs. Hinchey said a specific accountant was named in the motion. She said that that accountant, whom she did not name, was the same one hired following a state audit for 1970-72 which found $1,400 unaccounted for and that the village CPA's audit "showed everything all right."

"In the most logical thinking, you would not hire the same CPA that did an audit which showed everything okay in between the last two state audits, which show money missing. I have a question of the CPA's credibility," she said.

She said she also objected to the hiring of the CPA because his brother is a member of the board of trustees and that it is very rare for a village the size of Saugerties to spend more than $4,000 for a CPA to perform duties mentioned in the motion.

County Information Center Proposed

By Lynn Mulvaney

KINGSTON

A proposal to purchase surplus land owned by the New York State Thruway in Kingston for up to $10,000 for use by the county as a parking and information center, will come before the Ulster County Legislature Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the County Office Building.

The Industrial Development and Publicity Committee has made the proposal feeling the land, which is located adjacent to the Thruway traffic circle, would be of great value to the county. The committee suggests it be used for a commuter, and general parking facility, public information and park purposed. The property involved contains 8.91 acres and is in the area of the present information booth.

Originally the Thruway Department offered a much larger piece of land to the county for about $210,000 which the county declined feeling that it could not afford such an expenditure.

The Thruway Department subsequently sold two upper parcels and made another offer of $44,000 to the county for the lower 8.91 acre property.

Again the county declined feeling that $44,000 was too much for the parcel. The property was appraised again at about $10,000 and consequently the county is now interested.

The Industrial Development and Publicity Committee suggests that the funds to pay for the parcel be taken from the contingency fund.

In other action to come before the county board, the following proposals will be made:

- Request a two-month time lapse before a public hearing after publication of a master plan by New York State Energy Research and Development Authority on a nuclear site in Esopus and Lloyd.
- It is proposed by Legislators Charles Scala (R-Dist. 1), Eugene K. Noe (R-Dist. 8), Dr. Gerald P. Gorman (D-City), John Dwyer (D-City) and Glenn Debesky (R-Dist. 6).

- Set a public hearing on a local law to provide for a partial tax exemption of real property owned by persons 65 years of age or older with limited income. The hearing would be held Oct. 22 at 4 p.m. in Ulster County Office Building.

It is proposed by Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago (R-Dist. 8), Lester C. Elmendorf (R-Dist. 2), Louis H. Bevier (D-Dist. 8), Lester C. Thomas Roach (R-Dist. 8) and George Sisti Jr. (R-Dist. 8).

- Authorize a budget note of $200,000 to pay for the additional cost of aid to dependent children for the balance of the year.

It is proposed by the Social Services Committee.

- Create a Department of Economical Development and Control.

- Authorize a budget note of $200,000 to pay for the additional cost of aid to dependent children for the balance of the year.

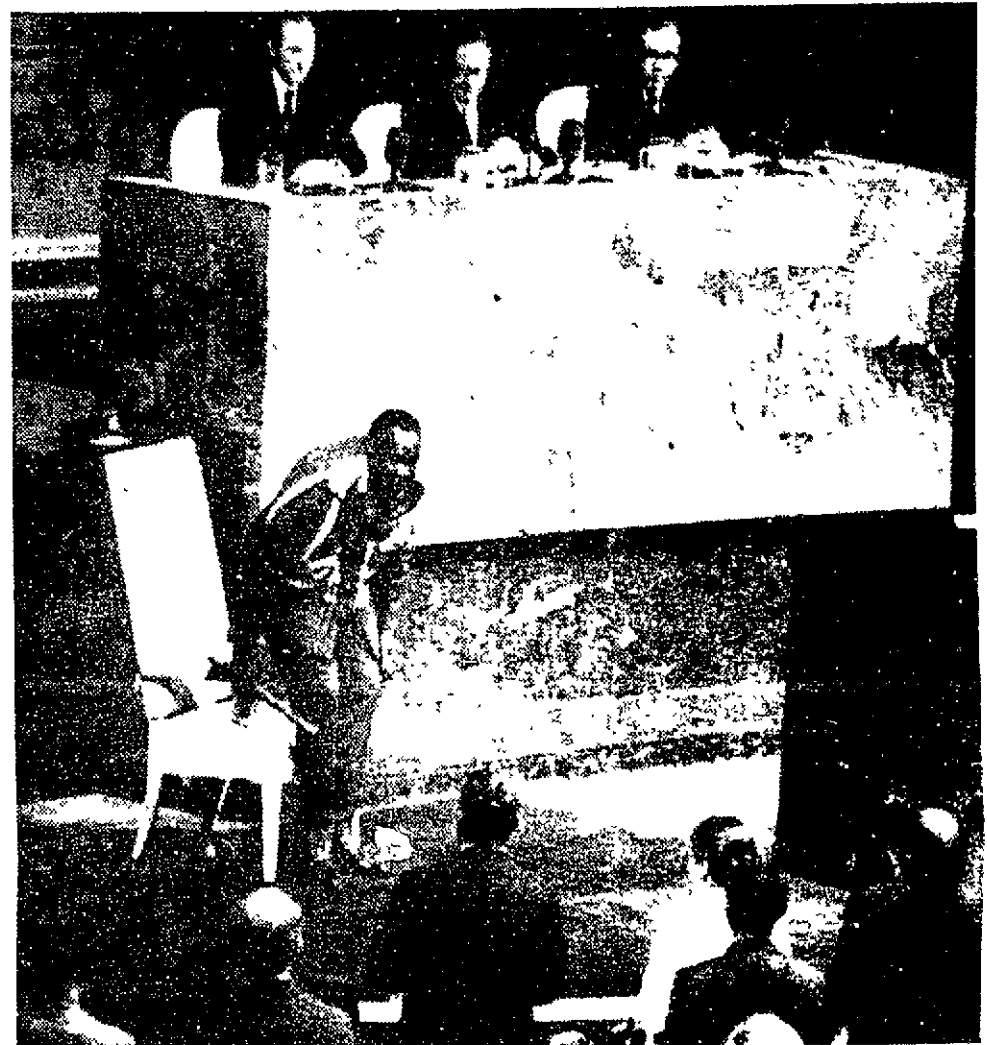

- Adhere to a standard for meal allowances for legislators.

- Authorize bids for the lease of a computer power management system.

- Provide for a local law authorizing payment of county real property taxes in two installments.

- Request the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation cooperate with the Ulster County Legislature and the Ulster County Planning Board on matters pertaining to the Catskills.

- Increase the veteran's burial allowance from $400 to $500.

Acknowledging Applause

Uganda President, Idi Amin acknowledges applause by standing delegation members in UN General Assembly following his introduction. Amin spoke 100 words in Swahili during his introductory remarks and then sat down. His speech to the Assembly was made in English by Uganda Ambassador Khalid Younis Kinene. Suspect in Kidnaping Transferred to UC Jail

By Matt Spireng

KINGSTON

Mel Patrick Lynch, one of the alleged kidnapers of whiskey heir Samuel Bronfman II, is being held at the Ulster County Jail.

Lynch, who along with Dominick Byrne allegedly abducted Bronfman on Aug. 9 from his father's Yorktown Heights estate and later demanded $4.6 million in ransom, was brought to the local jail Saturday night from the Westchester County Jail, where Lynch was allegedly involved in an escape attempt Sept. 22.

Lynch, 37, a Brooklyn fireman, and Byrne, 53, were arrested Aug. 17 by FBI agents and New York City Police after $2.3 million in ransom was paid by Samuel's father, Edgar Bronfman, board chairman of the $17 billion Seagram's Ltd.

According to Herman Schwartz, head of the State Commission of Corrections, a telegram to Gov. Hugh Carey from Lynch complaining that he was receiving threats on his life at the Westchester facility led to the transfer.

Schwartz said no conclusions were reached about the truth or falsity of the death threats but that it was agreed "by all parties involved" that Lynch should be transferred.

The head of the commission's investigative unit recommended the Ulster

LYNCH

County Jail "because he thought it would be best," said Schwartz, explaining that investigators complemented the Management of the Ulster County Jail.

Sheriff Thomas F. Mayone said he and several deputies went to Westchester County late Saturday and brought Lynch to Ulster.

According to Mayone and other law enforcement officials, Lynch's presence in the Ulster County Jail was not supposed to be made public.

However, word of the transfer began surfacing on Tuesday, and on Wednesday Mayone confirmed that Lynch is at the Ulster County Jail.

Lynch is being housed in a tier with the general population, Mayone said, explaining that he is receiving no special treatment other than guards are "keeping a closer eye on him."

Lynch was charged with attempted escape after he and another prisoner at the Westchester County Jail allegedly took a guard hostage and attempted to break through a window covered with a metal screen. They later surrendered to their hostage when it became apparent the attempt would fail.

Lynch is also charged with kidnaping

Samuel Bronfman, 21, was abducted from his father's estate Aug. 9. Later Edgar Bronfman received a letter demanding ransom and a hysterical telephone call from Samuel, who said he had been blindfolded and kidnaped.

A break in the case came eight days later when Byrne, reportedly wracked by conscience, led officers to a Brooklyn apartment where they freed Bronfman and captured Lynch.

Bronfman was found bound and blindfolded, but was not harmed. The ransom was recovered.

Reportedly no motive for the kidnaping has yet been made clear.

Mayone said it is not known how long Lynch will be kept at the Ulster County Jail.

Legislature Rapped on Black Creek Bill

By Jon Powers

HIGHLAND

Some very vocal residents of the Town of Lloyd made it quite clear Wednesday night that they are opposed to suggestions that Black Creek be included in the state's Wild, Scenic and Recreational Rivers System.

The two state representatives who introduced that legislation in Albany earlier this year also made it known that they won't accept all of the responsibility for the passage of a bill that many local residents knew nothing about.

They said the Ulster County Legislature should share a large part of the "blame." State Senator Richard E. Schermerhorn (R-40) and Assemblyman Emeel C. Betros (R-99) were guests at a special meeting Wednesday sponsored by the Highland Area Chamber of Commerce. They — and other state and local officials who were invited, but didn't show up — had been asked to explain why the Black Creek legislation was introduced, what effect it would have on property owners in the town and what will happen now that Gov. Hugh Carey has vetoed the legislation.

Betros said he introduced his legislation, which initially called for a 2.3 mile scenic designation, at the request of the Ulster County Legislature, which had earlier voted 32-0 to request state representatives to push for approval. "I felt that it was my responsibility as an elected official to abide by the request of a municipality in my district," said Betros, "I didn't foresee any problems. After all, the county's resolution was passed unanimously."

Betros said that a short time later he was approached by several organizations to extend the designation to 8.6 miles, presumably on the assumption that it would hinder proposed future nuclear development in the Town of Lloyd.

"I told them," said Betros, "that if the county wants to amend its original resolution I would go along with it." On April 10, the county legislature voted 32-0 to recommend the 8.6 mile designation.

Betros' bill eventually passed the Assembly; with Schermerhorn's support, it breezed through the Senate as well. It got as far as the Governor's office, where it was killed, apparently because of opposition expressed by local officials, the Atomic and Space Development Authority and the Department of Transportation.

The people who attended Wednesday's meeting wanted to know why the two representatives carried a bill that they really didn't know all that much about. Betros said the bill would have affected both the Towns of Esopus and Lloyd; that Esopus officials urged its passage while Lloyd residents were pressing for just the opposite. Unable to work out a compromise in time, Betros cleared the bill for passage.

Schermerhorn said, deep down, that he was opposed to the bill all along because it usurped local planning prerogatives. But he said he assumed the two unanimous votes in the county legislature indicated widespread local support for the measure.

Several people complained Wednesday night that designation of the creek would result in imposition of strict land use controls on privately owned property along the creek; others scored county officials for taking action without informing local residents of the possible repercussions.

It is almost a certainty that new Black Creek legislation, with the heavy support of the Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster County, will be introduced in Albany this year.

But Betros said he won't support such legislation unless it is endorsed by the Lloyd Town Board; Schermerhorn said Wednesday he is now totally opposed to designation, and won't support any legislation.

'We Love Our Parents, but'...

NEW YORK CITY
The three honey blonde, blue eyed daughters of New Jersey Insurance Commissioner James J. Sheeran said Wednesday they love their father but will continue as followers of the International Unification Church headed by the Rev. Sun Myung Moon.

At a news conference in New York, Sheeran's daughters, all in their early twenties, said in a statement, "We love our parents very much. We hope they can accept the idea that we want to be here by our own choice."

Sheeran alleged that he was beaten and gagged on a 4:30 a.m. visit to the church's Barrytown estate Aug. 28 in an attempt to visit one daughter, Josette, whom he had believed there. Church witnesses have alleged that it was Sheeran who made the assault, kicking several of them in the groin and biting one on the arm.

See Editorial on Page 6.

That incident was dropped in Red Hook Town Justice Court subsequently, but was considered instrumental in focusing Dutchess County district attorney Albert Rosenblatt's office on allegedly strange activities in Barrytown, and his office this week began a preliminary investigation of the Korean-based sect.

The three daughters, Josette, Jaimee, and Vicki also said in a statement that the rift with their father developed "due to phone calls to my parents from people involved with kidnaping members of our church."

And daughter Jaimee, 24, said her parents "are thoroughly convinced that anything we say is mind control. We could not communicate with them and this was very frustrating."

Sheeran, when interviewed by the Freeman in September at Red Hook, said that his daughter Josette had come back after the "assault" in Barrytown and had enrolled at the University of Colorado. Since that time, however, she has evidently decided to rejoin the Unification Church movement.

Outside the church's Manhattan office yesterday the silver-haired executive, accompanied by his wife Sally and 14-year-old son Jim, had not changed his views.

He said "The kids have lost sight of reality. They've been brainwashed."

Klein Scores Hiring Practices

ROSENDALE
The hiring practices governing employees of Ulster County came under criticism today by County Legislator Louis M. Klein (R-Dist. 6).
The Rosendale legislator alleges that the effectiveness of county personnel is being destroyed by the arbitrary manipulation of civil service regulations and the hiring of personnel without regard to their qualifications or experience.
Klein claims that in Ulster County there are provisional employees who have been employed for two years or more without ever being given the right to take a civil service examination in order to qualify for permanent employment.
The Democratic legislator said he has conducted investigations into the county's hiring practices and has found that the Social Service Department trained manpower employees and used them as integral members of the staff for varying lengths of time but never allowed them to take the civil service examinations. "Instead they were demoted to clerks a few months ago, when the powers that be wanted to grant employment to some of their friends and supporters," Klein charged.
"My investigation reveals that, in fact, one of these new employees is a very close relative of a department head who is regularly involved in the hiring of county personnel," he said.

Klein told of another incident when a "preferred" county employee failed his civil service examination three times, which should have resulted in his immediate discharge or demotion. Instead he was promoted to a higher position, within one of Ulster County's more sensitive and demanding units, he said.
Klein called on Civil Service Commissioner Frank Greco to schedule and hold civil service examinations within the next two months, for all positions presently filled by provisional appointees.

City Aid Lobbying

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gov. Hugh L. Carey met with congressional leaders and members of the New York State delegation Wednesday to urge legislation that would allow Washington to guarantee bonds sold to aid New York City and other municipalities in fiscal trouble.

Although lobbying heavily, Carey admitted to reporters he did not appear to have enough support to pass his proposal immediately and urged caution about prematurely bringing it to the House floor.

"This is an emergency situation," Carey said. "The worst thing to do is get a bill out on the floor before you can pass it."

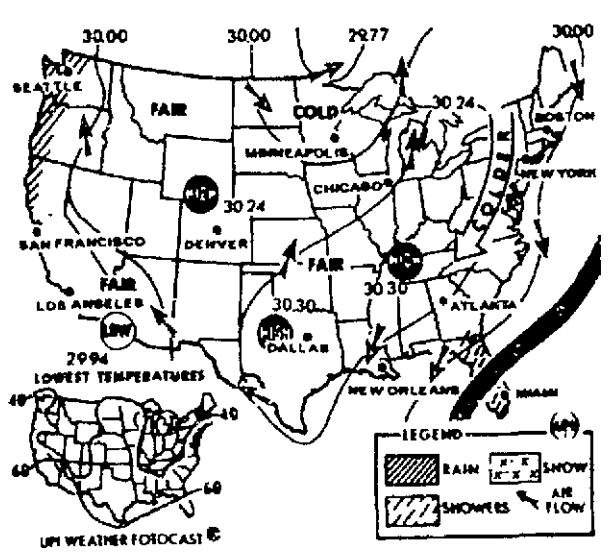

The bill, entitled the Municipal Emergency Act of 1975, would allow the federal government to guarantee taxable securities issued by a state or by a state group, such as New York State's Municipal Assistance Corp., which was created last June to help save New York City from default.

These guarantees, however, would not be effective until a governor certifies that the bond market is closed to whichever municipality needs the federal guarantees.

President Ford, meanwhile, told a meeting of midwestern mayors Wednesday that their citizens would not tolerate their local governments being run "as badly" as New York City.

Addressing 33 mayors from Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin, Ford repeated his opposition to the federal government's stepping in to rescue New York from its financial troubles.

Press Secretary Ron Nessen told a news briefing. "Your constituents wouldn't tolerate it if you ran your cities as badly as New York City has been run," Ford said, according to Nessen.

Amin Addresses the UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — Idi Amin swept into town in his bemedaled field marshal's uniform, took off his cap, put down his swagger stick and told the world how to solve all its problems.

The flamboyant Ugandan president called for the destruction of Israel and the election of a black governor in the United States, then put in a plug for his country's "huge but extremely shy gorillas."

Amin, wearing a dark blue uniform with red and gold shoulder boards, accused Britain of blackmail and France of colonialism and somehow managed to find time to dedicate a parking lot.

French, British and Israeli diplomats stalked out of the U.N. General Assembly hall Wednesday afternoon in protests against Amin's rambling, 85-minute address.

Medals dangling from shoulder to waist, Amin spoke briefly from the rostrum in Swahili, bringing puzzled glances to most delegates and curiosity seekers packing the hall.

The former British sergeant and prize fighter described himself as "a pure and proper son of Africa, who does not believe in any colonial and imperialist language."

Then he sat down, passed his cap to an aide, cradled his red and gold swagger stick on his lap, and listened to Uganda's U.N. ambassador deliver the rest of the speech in English.

Amin, president of the Organization of African Unity, attacked France's "ambiguous" position on Comoro, an Indian Ocean island colony that declared independence this year.

He denounced Britain for turning to "blackmail in order to confuse the world about the terrible situation of an inter-cine war" in Northern Ireland.

"I call for the expulsion of Israel from the United Nations Organization and the extinction of Israel as a state," he said.

The French, British and Israeli diplomats walked out in turn as Amin attacked their countries. But U.S. delegate Clarence Mitchell, president of the NAACP, listened impassively as Amin spoke of the condition of blacks in America.

"One would have expected that of the 50 odd governors of this country, a least one, if not several, would be black," the Ugandan leader said.

Commanders Pledge Loyalty to Franco

MADRID, Spain (UPI) — Military leaders have called for "total mobilization" to preserve Spain's beleaguered right-wing regime as "the last bulwark against communism" in Europe.

The commanders pledged unwavering loyalty to aging Generalissimo Francisco Franco in the face of increasing guerrilla warfare and international isolation.

"There is no other remedy for us but the total mobilization of all our means without restrictions on their use," Gen. Carlos Franco Gonzalez, commander of the Galicia region, said Wednesday.

His remarks came as guerrillas shot three policemen to death in Madrid and the European Common Market called off trade talks with the Spanish government.

The bodies of the three slain officers were taken to the police academy in Madrid for today's funeral. Sobbing families stood before the open coffins as the bodies lay in state.

The general told a pro-Franco rally that left-wing guerrillas and Basque separatists have launched "a true subversive war" against the troubled Spanish government.

"The objectives of our enemy are the destruction of our regime, the last bulwark against communism remaining in Europe," he said.

He accused Western Europe's "wasted and stupid" nations of trying to pressure Spain into giving "vulgar assassins a green light to shoot us in the back."

The nine-nation Common

Market suspended trade negotiations with Spain Wednesday to protest the execution of five Spanish guerrillas last weekend.

"In the present circumstances, it is not possible to go ahead with the negotiations with Spain," a market spokesman said in Brussels.

Gen. Salvador Banales, commander of the Catalonia region, told a Barcelona rally Wednesday "the armed forces are at Franco's orders" and "have no doubts of our mission nor fears to carry it out."

The shootings in Madrid came before 82-year-old Franco addressed a huge rally marking the 39th anniversary of his rise to power. Guerrillas have killed 22 policemen this year.

Franco, wearing a dark blue uniform with a red sash, blamed Spain's troubles on "left-wing Masons" abroad and "Communist-terrorist subversion" at home.

A crowd of hundreds of thousands shouted "Franco, Franco" and "Montini up against the wall" during the generalissimo's emotion-choked, five-minute speech.

The Roman Catholic crowd's attack against Pope Paul VI — Giovanni Battista Montini — came after the pontiff expressed regrets over the execution of the guerrillas.

Coup Feared In Portugal

LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — Socialists went on alert at party headquarters across the country today, accusing the far left of planning a coup against Portugal's military leaders.

The government, trying to cope with growing civil and military unrest, denied the coup reports, but military sources said army units were placed on "strict vigilance."

"We have received reports that a far left coup is developing and ordered our militants to go to their party headquarters and remain vigilant," a Socialist spokesman said Wednesday. "Everyone is on alert."

He said unidentified, far left groups planned to launch an "assault on the organs of information and an attack on (Prime Minister Jose) Pinheiro de Azevedo."

The coup reports came at a time of increasing military unrest against Azevedo's crackdown against Portugal's Communist-run radio and television stations.

The government denied the reports, but panicky Portuguese still flocked to supermarkets and banks to lay in a supply of food and ready cash.

The Information Ministry said reports of an impending coup were false. Military police said they knew of nothing to indicate a possible coup.

The Communists accused the Socialist party, the largest in Portugal, of being "alarmist" and called for an explanation of the statement. "I don't know what the Socialists are so upset about," one politician said. "They must know something the rest of us don't — it is very confusing."

A Socialist spokesman said he could not disclose any more information than the few details in the party communique. He said the danger had abated somewhat by early today but party militants were continuing their "vigilance."

Ulster County Oktoberfest

Mayor Francis R. Koenig (L) presents a greeting to Helmuth Hoppe and Hilda Richert on the occasion of The Great Ulster County Oktoberfest, to be held Saturday and Sunday at the New York State Armory, North Manor Avenue. Music and other entertainment will be among the highlights at the event sponsored by the Johann C. Weiser Unit No. 50 of the Steuben Society of America, the Kingston Maennerchor and Damenchor, the Kingston Sport Club and the Kingston Rotary Club. Festivities will begin at 2 p.m. on Saturday and at noon on Sunday. (Photo by Kuhnke)

Hyacinth Gift Ceremony

KINGSTON Ceremonial presentation of the first of 30,000 hyacinth bulbs, Kingston's bicentennial gift from Holland, will take place Oct. 11 at 12:30 p.m. on the grounds of the Senate House.

Kingston Bicentennial Commission Chairman Edward Levine said today that the presentation to Mayor Francis R. Koenig will be made by Dr. J. G. deJong, minister for cultural affairs, representing the consul-general of the Netherlands.

deJong and his wife will be accompanied by a member of the Dutch royal family, Count VanLindburg Stirum and his wife.

Participating in the ceremonies will be Assemblyman Maurice D. Hinchey Jr. (D-101st Dist.) State Sen. Richard E. Schermerhorn (R-40th Dist.) and Cong. Hamilton Fish Jr. (R-28th Dist.) Fish made the arrangements through diplomatic channels for the appearance of the Dutch officials.

Koenig is expected to present a Kingston Flag to deJong and Count Stirum.

Originally, the city had asked for 100,000 tulips for its bicentennial celebration. Dutch officials responded with an offer of 30,000. The tulips were later replaced with hyacinths due to what was described as a poor tulip year in Holland.

As it is, Kingston will be getting far more than its per capita share of flowers. New York City for instance, is getting only 84,000, while just over one million flowers are being distributed across the country. New York was the capital of the Dutch settlement of Netherlands. Kingston was one of its earliest outposts.

The idea to ask for flowers originated last year with Harry M. Thayer, a member of the Mayor's Beautification Committee.

The flowers will be planted all over the city with concentrations in heavily traveled areas such as the city's two hospitals, the City Hall war memorial, the junction of Washington and Hurley avenues and lower Broadway.

The public is invited to the Oct. 11 ceremonies. A luncheon at the Governor Clinton Hotel for the dignitaries will follow.

Onteora Citizens Group

BOICEVILLE Dexter Olsen is the new president of the recently formed Onteora Citizens Committee. Elected to serve with Olsen were Jane Rossitz, vice president; Barbara Shields, secretary; Richard Kugler, treasurer.

The committee, open to all voting age residents of the Onteora School District, is dedicating itself to the best possible affordable education, district wide, with a realistic view of taxpayers' income priorities and ability to pay.

Among the group's aims are:

- Cost effective fiscal management of the public educational system.

- Effective rapport between the board of education and its several constituencies, i.e. students, parents, staff and taxpayers.

- Voter registration and education.

- Evaluation of board of education candidates and possible endorsement of such candidates.

- Annual school budget review and evaluation.

- Evaluation of district labor relations, and study of district labor contracts vis a vis local, New York State and national school districts and general economic conditions.

- Keeping the public informed of significant developments in the school district.

- Provide input to the board of education of residents' concerns.

- Make recommendations to the board and public on matters carefully studied by the committee.

Mason Horse Honors

SYRACUSE State Sen. Edwyn E. Mason (R-48th Dist.) of Hobart is a horse lover's horse lover, according to the New York State Morgan Horse Society.

The senator is scheduled to receive an award from the society Friday at its annual show at the state fair grounds in Syracuse for his successful legislative effort to establish the Animal Diagnostic Laboratory at the College of Veterinary Medicine at Cornell University, Ithaca.

Phillip W. Jackson of Wappingers Falls, society president, will present a tribute to Mason as "the man on Capitol Hill in Albany who is principally responsible for an increased understanding on the part of legislators of the value of the horse in enhancing the quality of human life through creative recreational pursuits."

The 'Shinglers' Win the Battle

KINGSTON The "shinglers" have won the battle of the Senate House roof against the "copperheads." Work on the removal of the 55-year old copper roof began Wednesday morning and by late November a new shingle roof will be in place.

Thus apparently ends the controversy between one faction of the community that felt the expenditure of $35,000 for a new roof was unnecessary—a faction which included two state senators and an assemblyman along with a local taxpayers' group—against the New York State Department of Parks and Recreation, Division of Historic Preservation.

Bids were opened back in May but the controversy didn't really heat up until this summer when Thomas Cerwonka, a professional engineer and a member of WHITA (We've Had It Taxpayer's Association) charged that the existing roof on the Senate House could be repaired for less than a tenth of the cost of replacing it.

Cerwonka, and later State Senators Richard E. Schermerhorn (R-40th Dist.) and Edwyn E. Mason (R-48th Dist.) along with Assemblyman Maurice D. Hinchey (D-101st Dist.) were successful in forcing a public hearing on the issue but that's as far as they apparently got.

On Aug. 29, according to Senate House Site Manager James Gold, the State Office of Governmental Services (OGS) sent a two-man survey team to Kingston for an inspection of the roof. The team concurred with previous state findings and recommended replacement of the existing roof, Gold said.

After that, it was apparently automatic. On Sept. 12 the State Comptroller's office approved the awarding of bids to Roy C. Knapp Construction of Newburgh which was low bidder in the May bid openings. Knapp's contract dates from the time of the comptroller's approval. He has 70 days to complete the job which calls for the complete removal of the existing copper roof and its replacement with a fire resistant wood shingle roof.

Major work, other than the roof removal, is scheduled this year for the Senate House. The state also plans to install a temperature control system in the 200-year-old building.

Cerwonka and WHITA have questioned the advisability of that procedure from a technical viewpoint but their requests for a public hearing on the matter have been ignored by the state.

Board Member Suggests Moderation

SAUGERTIES

The announced intention of the Saugerties Board of Education to stand firm on a 12.9 percent pay increase offer to district teachers represents a majority opinion but not a unanimous opinion of the board, according to one member.

John O'Rourke, commenting on the Sept. 25 informational meeting in the high school auditorium, said that the board had agreed on the 8.5 percent offer made to teachers at the Sept. 5 negotiating session, "but on the 12.9 percent it was by no means unanimous."

Robert Francello, the board president who was the only board member to speak at the meeting, said the board had raised its 8.5 percent offer to 12.9 percent after the district set aside $368,000 of additional state aid for the increase.

"I suggest that moderation be the key in any salary adjustment," O'Rourke said Wednesday night. "I believe that the teachers deserve a raise, but if the 12.9 percent is approved it could have a severe effect on the school system in 1976-77. As chairman of the budget committee I will be trying to hold to a zero increase but if all of the money is in salaries it will mean cutting out a lot of services the children now enjoy."

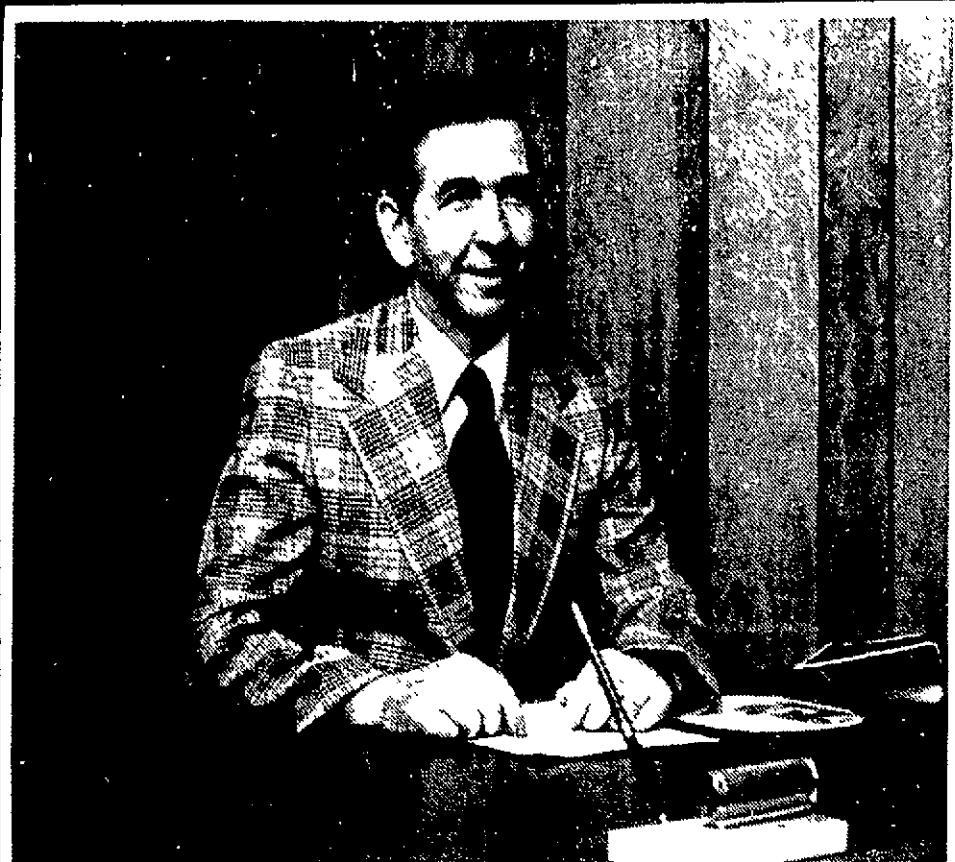

Negotiations between the Saugerties Teachers Association and the board have been going on since January. Teachers have been working without a contract since June 30, when the old three-year pact expired.

The district was one of six in the state judged to be "critical" by the Public Employment Relations Board (PERB). Negotiations have brought tentative agreement on 23 other issues, but the salary dispute and a fair dismissal procedure for probationary teachers are yet to be solved.

Teachers picketed at the junior-senior high school prior to classes on Sept. 15, with about half of the 240 teachers reportedly taking part. Others picketed at the Riccardi School in Glasco after classes that afternoon.

Supreme Court Justice Harold J. Hughes denied an attempt by the board of education to obtain a court order to restrain picketing. Hughes also denied a board petition seeking to have a job action by teachers declared a strike in violation of the Taylor Law, calling such a move premature.

Two County Nursing Homes Cited

Two Ulster County nursing homes have been cited for operational deficiencies in the latest report on nursing home enforcement activities released by Dr. Robert P. Whalen, state health commissioner.

Hudson Valley Nursing Home, Vineyard Avenue, Highland and Hutton Nursing Home, Washington Avenue, Kingston were listed among 25 in the report.

It was announced that any home that fails to correct deficiencies within 30 days notification will be subject to a daily fine of up to $1,000 for each violation.

A number of deficient homes has been reduced from 31 in August to the current 25, with all on the list subject to health department penalty hearings.

Two other homes mentioned in other areas of the report were Albany Avenue Nursing Home, Inc., of Kingston, in litigation with a hearing in process; and Orthmann Sanitarium of Washington Avenue, Kingston, listed as closed down.

Hudson Valley has 40 beds, and the alleged deficiency is in the field of social work and utilization review, said the report. Hutton, with 80 beds, is being cited for administrative services.

The Albany Avenue home has 33 beds, and Orthmann's had 41.

The $1,000 a day fine is being reserved for what the department considers to be serious violations, including: discrimination in admission policies or procedures; administering medications without a doctor's order; failure to provide adequately nutritious meals and special diets; failure to have an appropriately qualified director of nursing on duty at all times; and failure to fully explain all costs and charges to patients and relatives.

Other fines range downward to $100 a day. The charges against the two county homes were not judged to be in the serious category. The daily fine schedule was adopted by the State Hospital Review and Planning Council Sept. 18 and is now officially part of the State Hospital Code.

Dr. Whalen reported that, in accordance with the state's new nursing home regulations, all nursing homes have been instructed to post a summary of their most recent health department inspection in several locations, to include major deficiencies found, corrective measures taken, and public notice on the availability of a complete report.

Statewide, enforcement activities in 1975 have so far resulted in three structurally deficient nursing homes closed between Aug. 22 and Sept. 25, bringing the total to 44 homes with 3,059 beds closed since Jan. 1.

• Eighteen nursing homes with structural and/or operational deficiencies have agreed or have been ordered to close;

• Thirty two nursing homes with deficiencies are in various stages of litigation for revocation of their operating certificates;

• The health department's health care hotlines received 116 complaints between Aug. 22 and Sept. 25, bringing the total since late January to 1,353.

Placing the various official violations in perspective, Dr. Whalen said the highest dollar penalties have been assigned to violations of hospital code provisions that directly affect the rights of patients or the quality of care they receive.

Violations of a technical or "paper work" nature have been assigned lower dollar amounts.

Revised copies of the State Hospital Code, listing daily fines attached to each provision, are now being printed and will be distributed to all health care facilities as soon as they become available.

Five Workshops At Ulster College

STONE RIDGE

Twenty-five nursing home administrators and social workers from throughout the Hudson Valley are attending a series of five workshops sponsored by Ulster Community College.

Guest speaker at the first session was Shirley Carkner, a representative from the White Plains regional office of Nursing Home Administrators. She spoke on patient rights and the social aspects of patient care.

A second workshop scheduled for Oct. 8 at St. Theresa's Nursing Home in Middletown will include a discussion of patient care plans and social aspects, as well as an inspection of the St. Theresa's setup.

The workshop course is designed especially for nursing home administrators, with each workshop dealing with an area of administration subject to state and federal evaluation.

Moon People

Dutchess County District Attorney Albert Rosenblatt's decision to conduct an investigation of the Korean-based Unification Church is one which should be welcomed by both sides. The international church, with a seminary at Barrytown under the master Sun Myung Moon, has been increasingly beset with charges of brainwashing its converts so that they become mindless automatons. The latest incident, which geared Rosenblatt's move to investigate, involved New Jersey Insurance Commissioner James Sheeran, who claimed he was beaten and gagged when he went to the Barrytown campus in an attempt to retrieve his convert daughter. Countercharges of assault by church officials ended the case in a deadlock in Red Hook Justice Court when both parties agreed to an overall dismissal.

This incident, however, has ignited a flood of complaints to Rosenblatt's office. Most of these centered on the allegations that converts have become subject to such severe mind control that they renounce everything, even family ties, for allegiance to the Rev. Mr. Moon. Those who have broken away from the sect have recounted frequent incidents of coercion, constant supervision and relentless indoctrination. Another aspect that Rosenblatt will investigate is the disproportionate number of hospital admissions among the youthful disciples.

Church officials have done little to present their side to the public. Neighbors in Barrytown have described the seminarians as straightforward and clean cut, and the church recently held an open house for a public inspection of its Barrytown facility. Still the allegations of brainwashing and coercion continue, so Rosenblatt's investigation should go a long way to clear the air.

End to Tinkering

Congress got the message.

A bill restoring Veterans Day to its proper date on the calendar has been sent to President Ford for his signature. On Nov. 11, 1978, federal observance will coincide with that of most of the states.

In the years preceding World War II, Americans would pause at the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month to pay tribute to the men who died in the first "war to end all wars" and to honor those who survived.

And the traditional observance of the anniversary of the World War I armistice was expanded in more recent years to recognize the veterans of all wars and their contribution to the defense of American freedoms.

But in 1968, Congress blurred the significance of Armistice Day—now known as Veterans Day—by lumping it with other holidays in a package creating a number of three-day weekends. The holiday was observed nationally and in most states on the fourth Monday of October.

The people rebelled. No less than 27 states have since voted to return to the Nov. 11 observance.

So much for tinkering with patriotism.

"Things have been sort of dull around here — schedule Cat Futch for the next Joint Chiefs meeting!"

By Jack Anderson and Les Whitten

WASHINGTON—Each hunting season, the Northrup Corporation invites congressional and military bigwigs to its private preserve on Maryland's scenic eastern shore for some goose shooting.

The distinguished guests usually bag at least a goose a piece, but it's Northrup that winds up with the golden goose.

Last year for example, the company wangled a whopping $444.8 million worth of defense contracts from the Pentagon. Many of the goose hunters played a role in awarding the contracts.

Not that they would sell out the taxpayers for a goose chase. No one in the Pentagon would likely award a contract in exchange for the rustic bed and board and blinds which Northrup provides the hunters.

But the hosts know it is more effective to slap backs than to twist arms. A little booze and banter will go farther than a discourse on the company's merits.

Thus are public officials lulled until they slowly lose their sense of mission and feel a stronger loyalty to their corporate cronies.

We learned about these complimentary weekends-in-the-woods from the secret Northrup memos, which specify even how many geese each participant killed.

The setting is incomparable. The goose hunting unsurpassed. Northrup also serves the hunters hearty bacon-and egg breakfasts and passthe-plate suppers, with plenty of liquor to take the chill off.

Between naps, the men swap stories and, according to witnesses, discuss military needs. Rep. Robert Leggett, D-Calif., for one, recalled hearing a lot of talk about defense programs.

Northrup's guest list includes more than 30 admirals and generals, among them Adm. Isaac Kidd, ex-Navy Material chief; Adm. John P. "Blackie" Weinle, former planning for the Joint Chiefs; Gen. Clyde Box, former Deputy Air Force inspector; Gen. Duwart "Pete" Crow, former Air Force Comptroller; Gen. Horace Wade, former Vice Chief of the JCS; and Adm. Thomas McClellan, former chief of Naval Air Systems. The guests from Capitol Hill include Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev.; Rep. Bill Nichols, D-Ala.; Rep. Robert L.F. Sikes, D-Fla.; ex-Rep. William Minshall, R-Ohio; Gordon Nease, then with the Senate Armed Services Committee; Earl Morgan, formerly with the House Armed Services Committee; Arthur Kuhl, Senate Foreign Relations Committee; Tom Scott, Senate Appropriations Committee; Chet Sobsey, assistant to Senator Cannon; and Len Kilgore, former Assistant to Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz.

We placed calls to all the guests whom we had been able to place at Northrup's hunting retreat. Those who returned the calls generally portrayed themselves as overworked public servants getting away from it all for a weekend. Northrup refused to comment; the Defense Department also had no comment.

Footnote: Occasionally, an important guest, unable to slip away for a weekend, got a goose anyway. Northrup delivered a goose to Senator Cannon, for example, after he missed a hunting party.

BREAST CANCER: A startling study warns that X-ray screening, which is supposed to detect breast cancer in the early stages, may actually cause cancer.

This radiation detection method, known as mammography, has been widely publicized as a life saver. But is an unpublished study, Dr. John Bailar of the prestigious National Cancer Institute writes:

"There seems to be a possibility that the routine use of mammography in screening asymptomatic women may eventually take almost as many lives as it saves."

The X-ray screening is part of a joint program which the National Cancer Institute and American Cancer Society set up three years ago in 27 centers across the country. More than 200,000 women, all over the age of 35, are participating in the five-year project.

Preliminary figures shows this early detection program has located breast cancer in 3.4 per 1,000 women. But Dr. Bailar's study adjusts these figures claiming no more than 1.0 and as few as .5 detections can be attributed directly to the X-ray screening.

He contends these results may not be worth the risk involved with radiation. He suggests instead that "Screening by medical history and physical examination alone will probably provide much or most of the same benefit without risk from radiation."

But Dr. Frank Rauscher, director of the Institute, insisted there is "no question" about the effectiveness of the mammography program. He gave Dr. Bailar credit for "drawing more attention to the hazards involved." But both doctors stressed that only the most minimal doses of X-ray are used in the screening.

Other sources charged that prodding by the American Cancer Society and College of Radiology (whose members may profit from the X-ray fees) had moved the mammography project ahead prematurely.

Dr. Bailar's study cited a report by a committee of the Canadian Association of Radiologists. "It is not justifiable," states the report, "to recommend screening for breast cancer in Canada except in high risk groups."

Footnote: Otha Linton, a spokesman for the College of Radiology, confirmed that the college was a major backer of the program. However, he denied the profit motive and added: "Radiologists are sufficiently busy and can make a lot more money doing other kinds of exams."

On the Right

The Jackbooted Man With a Lash

By William F. Buckley

There are stirrings in West Europe. From some of them we can take heart. The Danish political parties are finally running into genuine resistance over the lengths to which welfarism has taken them. One estimate puts the cost of social services at 55 percent of the gross national product. Continue at that rate for a little longer, and the Danish people won't have money left over to buy porn with; though one supposes that the Social Democrats would come out for Free Porn. Perhaps some time before then, the people will discover their taste for freedom, and the great body of socialists who have written all the laws will be led to the gates of the city and given free passes back home.

In West Germany a recent survey suggests that something is at work on the ethos of profoundly alarming consequence. If one had to select the country that has most greatly prospered since the ravages of the second world war, all indicators would single out West Germany. Here was not only the rubble of an atomized country, but the awful corporate sense of shame at having been dominated by a mad savage who was a popular leader. The Germans worked hard, and sincerely, for their prosperity, and their democratic freedoms.

Suddenly things are beginning to go sour. A recent survey shows that among workers under the age of 30, 39 percent, if given the opportunity, would elect not to work at all. The corresponding figure in 1962 was 22 percent. The indisposition to work, then, has almost doubled in a dozen years. And hearken to this: In the age group between 16 and 20, a total of 76 percent would just as soon not have to work.

No doubt there are those who will find nothing in the least unusual about the figures. Work can be very unpleasant, and sloth achieved its standing as one of the capital sins in virtue of the social recognition that that which is unpleasant has nevertheless to be done. But the doing of it does not make it pleasant. Dishes have to be washed, and fences painted, but it takes a con-man like Tom Sawyer to persuade people that it is fun to do it. The substitute for Tom Sawyer in a modern society is an ethos—the work ethos. It was known intuitively for thousands of years that people feel better after exerting themselves. Modern psychologists, as usual certifying the obvious, establish that work is necessary to a sense of mental well-being. Sir Harold Nicolson wrote that "industry is the enemy of melancholy."

So what does it mean when three quarters of the young people of the most enterprising and industrious nation on earth decide with some suddenness, that they would just as soon not have to work for a living? Politically, the meaning of their decision is obvious. They are boob-bait for the demagogues of the left who will whisper to them how they can get it for nothing. —how, in the phrase of Albert Jay Nock, they can substitute political for economic means of aggrandizing wealth. What then happens, we all know. Everyone gets poorer, and there are fresh reasons—or are there—for misery?

The surveys seem to be telling us that the standard of the bourgeois world are not accepted by people who rise up into that world by commanding high salaries in the free market. It is, says Professor Noelle-Neumann of the Alenbach Institute for Opinion Research, the other way around. The (London) Times paraphrases. "The bourgeoisie are adopting not only the blue jeans but also the social values of the workers. Over 10 years, she finds, there has been a steady decline in traditionally bourgeois values such as respect for property, hard work, politeness, modesty, thrift, and the belief that one is responsible for one's own fate. There has been a corresponding spread of what she perhaps libelous boob-bait for the demagogues of the left who will whisper to them how they can get it for nothing. —how, in the phrase of Albert Jay Nock, they can substitute political for economic means of aggrandizing wealth. What then happens, we all know. Everyone gets poorer, and there are fresh reasons—or are there—for misery?

There has been a corresponding spread of what she perhaps libelous sly describes as traditionally lower class attitudes such as lack of interest in work, avoidance of effort and risk, the desire for immediate gratification, doubts about the fairness of rewards and fatalism about status."

Here was an interesting question put to the respondents. A father has to decide which of his two sons to send on an exchange visit to England. He resolves on the one who has been getting the best grades in school. Obvious? "The percentage of people who approved his decision, dropped from 62 to 49 between 1962 and 1972. In another question two secretaries of the same age do the same work but one gets paid more because she works better and faster. "Right", said 73 percent in 1962—but only 62 percent in 1972.

Patrick Moynihan, who continues to startle the free world as well as the unfree world, made bold to say on television a couple of weeks ago that some countries are not as well off as they ought to be—Argentina, for example. But what do you do when the ethos begins to go? How do you revive it? The trick is to do something about it quickly, because if you let it go too late, a big jackbooted man usually appears, and he carries a lash.

Nicholas Von Hoffman:

Selling Out the Planet

WASHINGTON—Now the squirt-can industry is having to fight off the environmentalists. You may recall that about a year ago the eco-maniacs told us the gas which propels the ersatz, whipped creamlike, near-food, dairy-derivative product out of the can was floating up to the sky and doing something to the atmosphere which would give us cancer.

The conservatives screamed that this last environmental scare story was really too farfetched, but since then more data has come in and it appears that the eco-maniacs could be right. The ensuing battle has divided the society in the usual way when the fight is health versus dollars.

In favor of a ban on squirt-cans is the upper-income, egg-head minority which has a class bias against applying aerosol perfume to its armpits anyway. Over on the other side is an alliance of squirt-can manufacturers, confectioners of under-arm deodorants and the industrial chemists who produce whipped cream look-alikes from magnesium, zinc and oil refinery drippings. In the middle are the government regulators who don't understand why they should be dragged into the controversy. And on the outside we have us, the members of that amorphous, confused mob which calls itself the public.

The eco-maniacs are saying if you don't ban the squirt-cans, you'll die. The manufacturers are saying if you do ban the can you'll all be out of work. The regulators aren't saying, and the public is asking why it should have to choose between unemployment and cancer.

The outcome will be the predictable compromise which the newspaper editorialists will call statesmanlike: a little cancer and a little unemployment. Our distrust for nationally advertised brands will be heightened as will our hatred for the eco-maniacs for continually finding these things out and telling us. A better, more satisfactory way of handling these problems must be found.

There's a simple one at hand. Sell the environment. Sell the air. Sell it off the way the government sold off the radio frequencies, because our trouble stems from the fact that we have socialized or nationalized air, government-owned lakes and an unclaimed sun.

Left-wingers and their liberal camp followers will protest, no, That's the people's air. Yes, and look what the people have done with it. That which is owned by everybody is owned by nobody, which is why under our present system of socialized ownership of air no single individual or corporation has a large-enough stake in it to take care of the air and defend it.

What do you think would happen if Howard Hughes owned the air and General Motors stunk it up with their exhaust pipes and the squirt-can people degraded its anti-cancer qualities? Hughes would hit 'em with the biggest, multi-billion dollar damage suit ever filed. He'd go to court, tell the judge they're ruining his property without compensating him for it, and he'd get an injunction.

Under private enterprise the General Air Corporation of America would send each of us a monthly bill for the use of the property. If the quality of what we're paying General Air for declines, we can demand lower rates for the inferior stuff they're selling us to breathe. That is what will provide General Air with the economic incentive to keep the quality up.

When the entire environment is sold off, polluting corporations will no longer argue that clean air causes unemployment. They'll either have to spend money for anti-pollution equipment or be billed extra by General Air, which will spend the money to clean it and keep up the value of its property. In either case, good environmental practice will be considered just another cost of doing business like buying geraniums for the perfume factory.

Not just air should be sold, but everything. The sun first, Until Gulf Oil or somebody like them can charge for use of the sun's rays there will be no progress in solar energy.

The rivers should be sold. Neither the Hudson nor the Mississippi nor the Sacramento would be abused as they are now if they were private property. Every factory discharging putrid chemicals and every city dumping sewage into a river would be billed by its owner for the costs of cleaning it up plus a reasonable profit of course.

Ideally, the way to protect people's health is to sell people too. The corporations which are killing us have more to gain by selling us poisons and profiting from our long, expensive, hospitalized deaths than they do by keeping us alive. Alive we're only good to them as customers, but we breed so rapidly one dead customer is instantly replaced. Big business would have a much higher regard for us if they carried us on their books as a capital investment to be milked as an investment tax credit and to be properly maintained and amortized over the full three score and ten. (Naturally, accelerated depreciation on human beings would not be allowed by the IRS.)

For us to achieve a long, full and healthy life, to clean up the environment, to repudiate collectivist tendencies in our politics and to perfect the free enterprise system what we need is slavery.

WHAT MOST KIDS OBJECT TO ABOUT SCHOOL IS THE PRINCIPAL OF THE THING

Freeman Readers Write

Big MAC

Editor, The Freeman:

The recent action by state representatives, bailing out New York City's "Big Mac" bond obligations, is in our viewpoint the height of fiscal and political irresponsibility!

The use of city and state employee pension funds for such an obvious risk is unwarranted and blatantly irresponsible. This action was evidently taken without consent from, or approval of the affected state and city employees.

New York City officials have been aware of their critical fiscal problems, and they have failed to correct them. The fiscal morass is being disguised through passage of this legislation, and it is grossly wrong! In our judgment it is wrong that the people of New York State should be required to subsidize the irresponsible action of the New York City administrations, past and present.

Assemblyman Betros is to be commended for his positive stand and vote against the "Big Mac" deal, and for his prudent objective reasoning on the issues involved.

Assemblyman Maurice Hinchey, on the other hand, is to be severely criticized for his approval of the "Big Mac" financial fiasco. Mr. Hinchey's constituent county and townspeople to receive large contributions in tax monies from New York City; but his excuse for approving the subsidy is illogical, erroneous and ridiculous. His reasoning, that default by New York City would have economic impact upon his constituents is wrong. Regardless whether or not New York City does provide tax monies to Ulster County, there is no justification for the people of New York State to be saddled with underwriting the city's financial disaster. Besides, the monies received by Ulster County and its towns represents their equitable share of the property tax burden, primarily on water supply properties. Whether New York City defaults, or whether it is subsidized through this devious legislation, the people of the State of

New York are being abused financially. New York City has had difficulty obtaining support from the large banks for its bond issues. If the banks, whose own fiscal integrity is questionable, will not support New York City in its financial dilemma, then certainly New York City must be in a horrible state of condition. Divesting the State and City employees of their precious pension funds in an attempt to rescue the politically disgraceful, sadly failing, fiscal policies of New York City is atrocious!

We ask, in the name of the people, for a reconsideration of the justice in this matter by the State Assembly and Senate. To put the people of New York State in a position as lenders of last resort by this legislation, so that they may be bankrupted also, is typical of contemporary political corruption.

Genocide

Editor, The Freeman:

One of the main reasons people believe a pre-born baby to be something less than human is because the baby cannot live outside the mother. They argue that since the baby is dependent on the mother, it is up to the mother to decide whether it should live or die.

Stop and ask yourself this question:

"If medical science develops a method to keep a pre-born baby alive outside the womb, will I then recognize it as human life; will I then fight for its right to life?"

You'd better do some serious thinking because medical science will soon discover such a method, and one of your major cop-outs will be gone. Of course, there are other cop-outs you can cling to. For example, I once put this question to a group of people at work and was confronted with some astounding logic. One person said that science should not develop such a method because it goes against nature. Another said that if God had meant a baby to live at three months he wouldn't have made the pregnancy nine months. As for argument #1, my God, if anything goes against nature, it's the tearing of a baby from the mother's womb before term (abortion). As for statement #2, that's been used as an argument against progress at every turn in the road. It fails to take into account that God gave us a brain; a brain that has too often been used for destruction, but should be used to protect life.

Abortion is easy because we don't see the victim and because society, including many of our social agencies, tell us that we've done nothing wrong. But we have done something terribly wrong. One by one, in the past two years, we've killed nearly two million helpless people. We've put a price tag on human life. It's not enough to be life, one must now meet the definition for meaningful life. It seems to me that a generation that has done so much to mess up the world has no right to pronounce on who's meaningful and who isn't.

Perhaps our biggest sin is what we are doing to our poor. We are attempting to solve the problem of poverty by convincing the poor to abort (kill) their young. We are in effect committed, politely and gracefully, to a policy of genocide. We're very liberal and proper so we don't call it genocide, but it has the same effect. Let me tell you this my liberal brothers, we can't kill poverty, we have to solve it.

Another fallacy is that the pro-life movement is anti-woman. To this, I can only say that female babies are also killed in abortion — and they might have been great.

The killing may have ceased in Vietnam, but it goes on here. Please stop and think . . . please stop.

Yours truly,
JAMES R. WHELAN

Saugerties Salaries

Editor, The Freeman:

I am not a teacher, nor is my husband. As a mother of three children attending a Saugerties School, I felt it a shame that the attendance at the Saugerties School Board meeting concerning the Board's position only, on the salary to teachers was not truly representative of the taxpayer. It was quite obvious to me, that the majority of taxpayers present were elders and businessmen rather than the parent with children in school. It appeared that they were mainly concerned with the tax dollar effecting them rather than the interest of Saugerties teachers; in turn the interest of Saugerties school children. The Board's president Mr. Francello also was aware of this and played into their hands by trying to assure those present that his main interest was that of saving them a higher tax dollar, which in my opinion, told me his concern did not lie with the welfare of teachers or with our children's educational future. At one point Mr. Francello did explain that teachers put in many hours before and after the designated school hours, with which I am in full agreement, then he added, except for Physical Education. What a mistake! I was pleased to see response by one of the Phys. Ed. teachers, who, upon hearing this unfounded remark, stood and walked out!

I believe the increase in salary, which the teachers are asking, they not only deserve but need. This pay increase will not fatten their bellies, but will only help them to make ends meet!

Our teachers have certainly handled themselves with dignity while trying to alter the Board's unwillingness to negotiate further. Their peaceful carrying of signs outside the schools has been, I'm sure, stimulating to the school children rather than detrimental. It will help to teach our children to stand for what they believe in.

I feel it is time the Board Members and Townspeople reassess their values.

Awards to Freeman Staff

KINGSTON Seven editorial staff members of The Daily Freeman have won awards in the first annual Heritage Savings Bank Media Award Contest.

The award winners were reporters Hugh Reynolds, Jon Powers, Matt Spireng and Dorothy Narel, sports reporter Steve Kane and photographers Robert Haines and Alan Carey.

The contest was open to any individual employed as a reporter, photographer or newscaster for any daily or weekly newspaper or radio station in Ulster, Dutchess and Rockland counties. The contest categories for the daily newspaper classification were news stories, features, series and news or feature photographs. All of the entries, which were judged by professionals in the journalism field outside of the contest area, must have been printed between July 1, 1974 and June 30, 1975.

The Heritage Media Awards

winners will be honored at an awards dinner Thursday, Oct. 9 at the Meadowbrook Lodge in Vails Gate, sponsored by Heritage Savings Bank. One Heritage award will be presented for first place in each classification and category and two Heritage Certificates will be awarded for second and third place.

The first, second and third place prize-winners in each category will not be announced by Heritage Savings Bank until the Oct. 9 awards dinner.

Protect 'Secret Process'

KINGSTON Marpac Industries of Kukuk Lane, Kingston, which manufactures siphon assemblies, has obtained a show cause order in Ulster County Supreme Court seeking to stop a Richard Butler of New York City from divulging information regarding the plant's "secret processes" and from selling siphon assemblies manufactured through use of the "secret processes."

The show cause order, signed by Supreme Court Justice Harold Hughes, has been adjourned to Ulster County Court, Oct. 3.

Butler according to court records is doing business under the name C&R Engineering Company.

Marpac Industries specifically seeks to enjoin Butler, his agents, servants and employees from "divulging and/or utilizing Marpac's secret processes, manufacturing techniques or know-how for making electrostatic copier toner replenisher siphon assemblies and from selling and delivering them. Marpac alleges that C&R's assemblies are made by using the Kingston firm's secret processes.

Ewig, Klein and Klein is representing Marpac and Butler has retained Ward Ingalsbe Jr. as counsel.

United Way Not Sponsor Of 'The Guns of Autumn'

KINGSTON The United Way of Ulster County wants it made abundantly clear that it had no part in sponsoring a controversial CBS hunting documentary "The Guns of Autumn" aired Sept. 5.

An Associated Press dispatch reported that angry viewers in at least 12 cities have said they won't contribute to the United Fund this year because they mistakenly thought the charity sponsored the broadcast.

David Dittman, chairman of the Ulster fund drive that began Saturday, said that the local headquarters had received some negative feedback from disgruntled sportsmen, that their message would be including the Federated Sportsmen of Ulster County.

CBS said the United Fund did not buy air time on the program, and what the protestors saw was a public service announcement provided free of charge by the network along with other free public service messages during the 90-minute show.

It said United Fund officials did not even know in advance that their message would be broadcast during the program.

The report from CBS was made in a special followup program titled, "Echoes of the Guns of Autumn" that explained the various reactions generated by the original broadcast.

During a special screening of the followup last week for New York television critics, CBS newsman Charles Collingwood said, "If you're angry at CBS News, that's one thing, but don't blame the United Fund."

Russ Bensley, executive producer of the show, said the network had run a random survey in 58 cities to see if the protests were widespread. He said they appeared to be individual complaints and that he found no evidence of work of any organized group or groups.

None of the 12 aforementioned cities was in New York State.

Business Talent Supplied to UW

KINGSTON Several Ulster County businesses have loaned employees to the United Way of Ulster County fund drive this fall.

Working on the drive, which runs until Nov. 7 are employees from New York Telephone, Rotron, Hercules, IBM, Ulster County Credit Bureau, Ulster Savings, and Ulster County Community College.

The employees participate as part of an executive loan program to bring members of the working population into close contact with fund raising efforts that help support United Way agencies.

David Dittman, drive chairman and personnel manager at Hercules, noted that "by getting employees from local firms involved in fund raising, we assure the vitality and validity of the campaign and summon talents of those skilled in management, sales, public relations and other business techniques to enhance the drive."

He said area businesses exhibit their "unquestionable support of the United Way by allocating 80 hours of an employee's work time to the campaign."

Temple Emanuel

The annual new member and Religious School Consecration Family Sabbath Service will be held Friday 7:45 p.m. at Temple Emanuel, 243 Albany Avenue. Services will be conducted by Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn and Cantor John Park. The 21 new Temple families and the 39 new students in the Religious School will be blessed by the rabbi, greeted by the Temple president and honored by the congregation at a special Oneg Shabbat in the Temple Social Hall.

Temple Religious School students in kindergarten through sixth grade with birthdays in August, September and October will receive special recognition.

At the Oneg Shabbat, Roy and Dottie Freeman will lead the congregation in folk dancing.

During services the memories of the following will be remembered: Herman Litt, Harry Weber, Sarah Unell, Samuel Morrison, Dora Schildhou, Paul Rosenbaum, Lester Wolff, Julius Svirsky, Samuel Gade and David Weterhahn.

The adult study class, Basic Judaism begins Saturday 1 to 2:30 p.m. The class will meet in 14 weekly sessions. Persons interested in learning the basic teachings and practices of Judaism may attend.

Paul Cooper's Actors Workshop will meet for casting tryouts 2 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. Sunday. All persons interested in participating in the forthcoming Chanukkah Community program may attend. Rabbi Eichhorn may be contacted for further information.

Elie Wiesel, the world-famous Jewish author and lecturer will speak at Vassar College Chapel 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 8. Persons interested in attending will meet at the Temple 6:15 p.m. to form car pools.

The adult study class, Lifetime of the Jew, will begin Monday, Oct. 13 at 8 p.m. The 10-session course will deal with the important life-cycle events in Judaism. Persons wishing to register for the class may contact Rabbi Eichhorn. Temple affiliation is not required.

Ahavath Israel

Religious services will be conducted at the conservative synagogue, Congregation Ahavath Israel, 100 Lucas Avenue, Friday 8 p.m. followed by Oneg Shabbat and Saturday 9:30 a.m. followed by a Kiddush.

The Oneg Shabbat will be sponsored by the Sisterhood.

This Sabbath is the first of the Hebrew Calendar Year and is called Shabbat Bereshit, named for the first portion of the Torah which will be read during the services, Genesis 1:1.

The Kiddush will be sponsored by Max Rose, the honorary Gabbai, in celebration of his 87th birthday.

At both services the Mourners Prayer will be offered for the following departed whose Yahrzeits will be observed during the coming week: Abraham Weinstein, Herman Rosenberg, Isadore Motzkin, Ella Sher, Sam Weiss, Abram Schulman, Samuel Alcon, Chaim Alter Glasner, Louis Singer and Morris Brossman.

Rabbi Ayre Lev Lupkin will officiate at all services. Sunday Religious School and Nursery School will resume classes Sunday 10 a.m. The Sisterhood Paid-Up Dinner and Installation of New Members will be held Wednesday 6:30 p.m. in the social hall. Blanche Lupkin will be installing officer. The program after the dinner will be Women in Perspective, dramatic readings and sketches by Betty Madonna, Linda Quartell and Elizabeth Askue.

Agudas Achim

Candlelighting Friday at Congregation Agudas Achim, 254 Lucas Avenue will be at 6:15 p.m. The portion of the Week is Bereshit, including the first chapters of creation. Services Saturday 8:30 a.m. will be led by Cantor Herman Slomovits.

The movie, The Flying Matchmaker will be presented Saturday 8 p.m. in the auditorium. The first kindergarten class will meet Sunday 10 a.m.

Adult education series starts Monday 7:30 p.m. with Bible taught by Rabbi Basil Herring. Tuesday 7:30 p.m. Hebrew Reading and 8:30 p.m. Classes are open to all.

New members welcomed to the congregation are Dr. and Mrs. R. Goldstein and Dr. and Mrs. H. Leifer.

Services are conducted weekdays 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. and Sundays 8 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Adult Classes

KINGSTON

The adult education program of Congregation Agudas Achim, 254 Lucas Avenue, will continue on a weekly basis beginning Monday, Oct. 6 at 7:30 p.m.

The Monday night course, taught by Rabbi Basil Herring, is entitled Personalities in Genesis and will deal with episodes in the lives of Biblical individuals in their interaction with the world around them. The course was very popular last year.

Classes in Hebrew Reading and Writing and Hebrew Conversation will be taught Tuesdays by Mrs. E. Bernat. Reading class is at 7 p.m. and Conversation at 8:30 p.m.

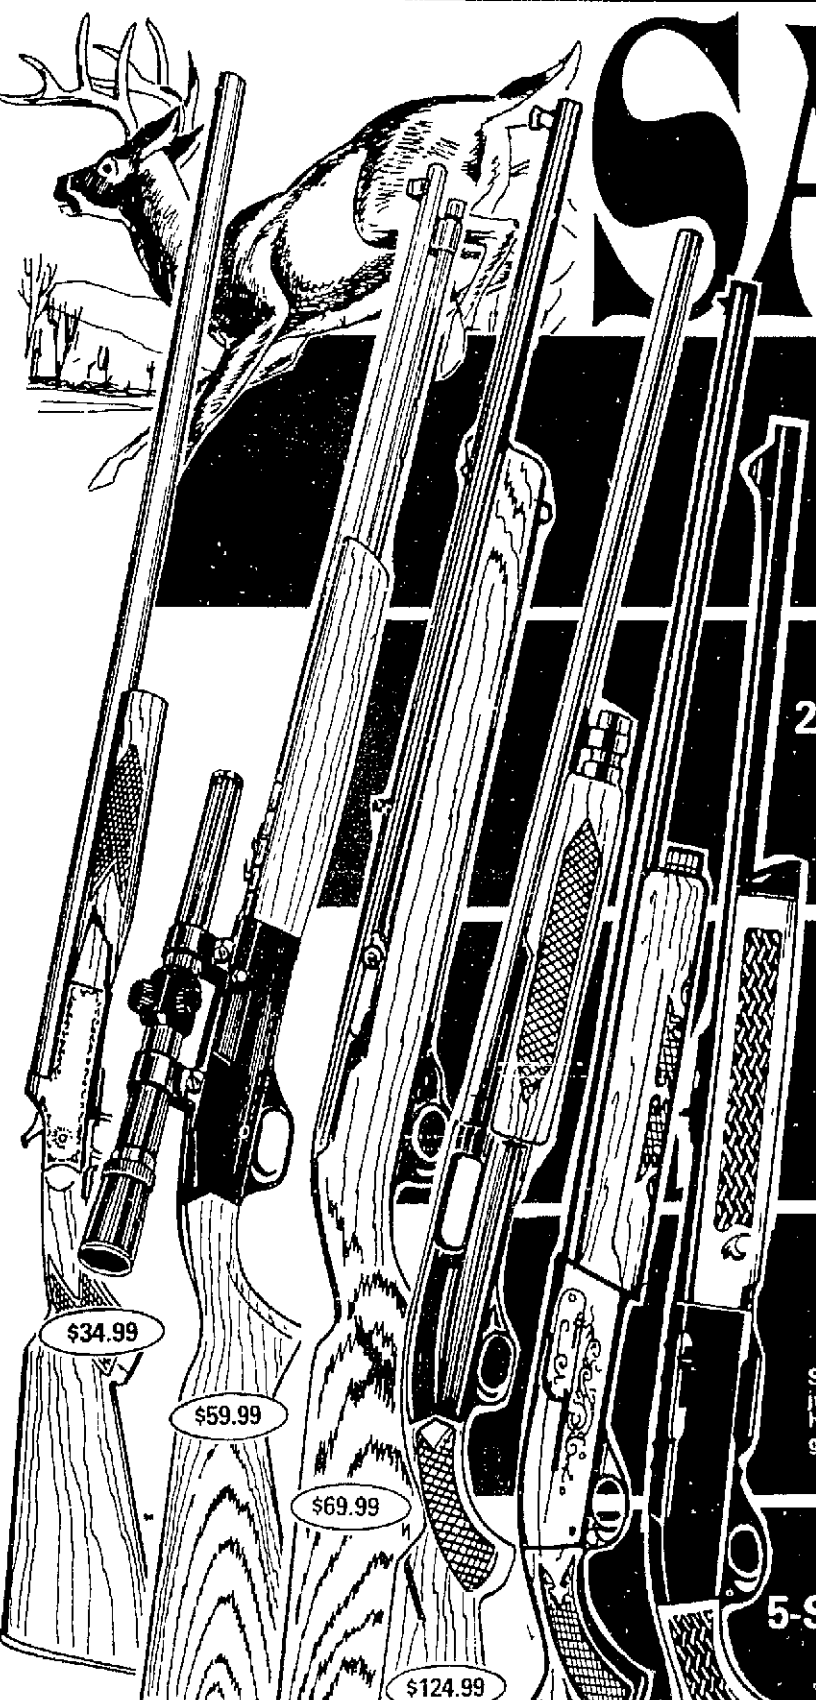

The classes are in the second year as part of the adult education program at Agudas Achim. Registration is open to all interested persons who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity.

Scala Explains the 'Monster'

SAUGERTIES

"There is a monster loose in Ulster County," Legislator Charles Scala (R-Dist. 1) said today, alluding to what he calls "a strange happening which occurs only once every two years just prior to election."

The monster, he explained, has been created by the Democrats who insist that it is the "Republican Majority," — the majority that rules the legislature when in fact, the Democratic voting record proves otherwise.

Citing legislative records, Scala said that:

- A one percent sales tax was passed in 1969 with 60 percent Democratic support.

- The 1970 budget increased by $3.2 million and was supported by 100 percent of the Democrats.

- The 1971 budget was increased by $5.2 million and was supported by 25 percent of the Democrats.

- The 1972 budget was increased by $3.3 million and was supported by 90 percent of the Democrats.

- The 1973 budget was increased by $5 million and was supported by 89 percent of the Democrats. This was also the year that the legislator's salary was increased to $4,000 with Democratic Minority Leader Dr. Gerald P. Gorman championing the cause.

- The 1974 budget increased by $7.1 million and was supported by 67 percent of the Democrats.

- In 1974 a county-wide referendum on increasing the term of office of the county legislatures from two to four years was proposed by Democratic Louis M. Klein and James Gilpatrick and Brian R. White, who at the time was a Republican.

Scala also recalled that during the five years when the budget increased from $21 to $45 million, the budget was presented to the legislature by the Finance Committee. Serving as members on that committee were minority leaders, Roger Mabie, for two years and Dr. Gorman for three years. Also, Klein served three years.

The Saugerties legislator said it is interesting to note that "the Democrats average for the five-year period was an astounding 75 percent. A very passable grade under any circumstances," he concluded.

Roach Praises Fiscal Care

NEW PALTZ

Lauding the Ulster County Legislature for its "fiscal responsibility," Legislator Thomas W. Roach Jr. (R-Dist. 8) severely criticized Democrat Thomas Nyquist today for contending that the county's future is mortgaged through excessive indebtedness.

Roach said Ulster County has only 11.5 percent of the limit or bonded indebtedness. Comparing that figure with outer counties, he said Dutchess County's indebtedness is almost four times that of Ulster, Orange County is over three times that of Ulster, Sullivan County's indebtedness is greater with a much lower population and Greene County with a population of one-quarter of that of Ulster has about equal indebtedness.

The New Paltz legislator explained that Ulster County has a bonded indebtedness of limit of over $63 million and the current outstanding indebtedness, including bonds and bond anticipation notes is only $7,304,000 which is about 11.5 percent of the limit.

Roach also points out that 29 counties of the state have a three percent sales tax, 12 counties have two percent and Ulster has one percent sales tax.

"When we look at these facts and still see that Ulster County taxes have been reduced five of the last seven years, something must be right," Roach said. "If this is fiscal irresponsibility then maybe it is time for a change. Take a look at Democratically-controlled New York City or the give away programs in the state and it is evident as to the type of fiscal responsibility you might really get," he said.

Roach claims that Nyquist's statements that the county's bonded indebtedness and sales tax are the reason that taxes have been reduced "is pure political rhetoric and absolutely untrue."

Introduce Candidates

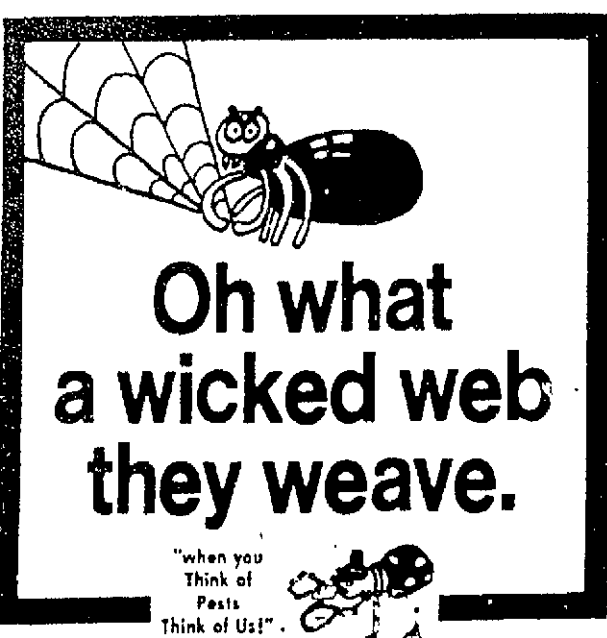

MARBLETOWN Democratic candidates for offices in the Town of Marbletown will be introduced at the Marbletown Democratic Club meeting, Monday, Oct. 6, at 7 p.m. at Rock Cliff House in High Falls. All interested residents of the area are invited to attend.

John Hogan, Democratic commissioner on the board of elections, will be present to discuss required financial reports.

The Democratic slate includes Elsie Weglarz, town supervisor; Charles Orr, superintendent of highways; James Hasenflue and Alfred Terwilliger, four-year councilmen; John Terwilliger, two-year councilman; Charles Williams and Adeline (Teri) DiBenedetto, assessors, and Frank Wuchte, justice of the peace.

Michael DiBenedetto and Belle Sundeen are the Democratic candidates for the county legislature from District Seven which includes Marbletown and Rochester.

B-210 Hatchback

Datsun's done it again! In the Environmental Protection Agency gas mileage figures released Sept. 22, Datsun B-210 with manual transmission got 41 MPG on the highway, 29 MPG in the city. B-210 got better highway mileage than any other '76 car tested, and we did it without making you buy a more expensive optional engine like some economy cars do. It's no surprise that Datsun came out on top... we've been mileage leader or been tied for first place for 3 of the 4 years the EPA has been testing gas mileage! Of course, these figures are estimates and actual MPG may be more or less depending on the condition of your car and how you drive. Datsun B-210, the mileage leader. Expos Fire Gene Mauch

MONTREAL (UPI) — Gene Mauch, who was named coach of the Montreal Expos at their birth in 1969 and skillfully guided them through their infancy, has been fired because "we need a different type of person at our stage of adolescence."

Mauch, 49, was released along with assistant coaches Cal McLish, Dave Bristol and Jerry Zimmerman. Two other assistants, Duke Snider and Walt Hrinia, are being kept by the club in different positions.

"The Expos are looking now for a different kind of person to handle the team and we are in the process of seeking a new manager," said Expos president John McHale.

"I called Gene Mauch to give him the news. We had a cordial and professional conversation. I thanked him for the outstanding job he has done for the past seven years since he became our first, and only manager. Mauch did not appear to be overly surprised."

"We feel this club is in a development stage and we need a different type of manager. We have a few people in mind."

Charles Bronfman, chief owner of the team and chairman of the Expos' board, said "it is time we made a change. Any organization needs two different kinds of things. One, at birth, and that's the type of job Gene Mauch did, and now we need a different type of person at our stage of adolescence."

McHale said the new coach of the Expos would be a man "who has enthusiasm, patience and knowledge of the game as well as leadership abilities." He would not name any prospects.

General manager Jim Fanning said the new coach would be found outside the Expos organization.

"We need a change," Fanning said, "a different tack, a different approach, a different touch. This would not indicate that we're not satisfied with what Gene did in our early years of expansion."

Mauch came to Montreal from the Philadelphia Phillies in 1969 when the Expos first entered the National League. Montreal finished in sixth place in 1969 and 1970, fifth in 1971 and 1972, fourth in 1973 and 1974 and fifth this year.

"We were competitive for the first six years of our organization but I do not think we were too competitive this year," McHale said.

"As far as trades are concerned I do not think we will make many trades, but we do need pitching talent badly and we will try to make trades in that area. Personally, I am going to take a more active part in running the team."

Mauch was apparently taking his dismissal philosophically.

When contacted at their home in Rancho Mirage, Calif., Mrs. Mauch quipped "I'm sorry, he's not here. He's at the employment office."

She said her husband spent the day golfing after getting the call from the Expos.

"There really wasn't that much to say," she said. "He just went out and played golf. I didn't talk to him a lot about it."

The Great Innovator

Larry MacPhail, 85, Dies

MIAMI (UPI) — Only two days after the death of Casey Stengel, baseball lost another of its great names Wednesday when Larry MacPhail, one of the game's great innovators, passed away at the age of 85.

Funeral services are scheduled for Friday at the First Presbyterian Church, Cass City, Mich. The family asked that in lieu of flowers, contributions be made to the Hills and Dales Hospital in Cass City.

MacPhail, who lived at the Jackson Manor Nursing Home here, leaves a widow, Jean, and four children—Lee MacPhail, president of the American League, Bill MacPhail, a vicepresident of CBS Sports, Jeanie MacPhail and Marian McDermott.

MacPhail was one of baseball's first great promoters and he never ceased searching for the one extra stunt that might bring more fans into the park. His most historic move came in Cincinnati in May, 1935, when baseball was played at night for the first time.

MacPhail marked the occasion by having a friend, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, throw out the first ball.

He had other touches far ahead of his contemporary executives. MacPhail was the first to use a jet plane to move his team around the country and he was one of the first to use the Caribbean for spring training.

MacPhail played a key role in reassembling the New York Yankees dynasty club after the end of World War II in 1945. Two years later, the Yankees were World Champions again and they amassed 15 pennants in 18 years. He earlier was an owner of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The deaths of Stengel and

MacPhail wipe out the hierarchy of those powerful clubs. Del Webb and Dan Topping, MacPhail's former partners with the Yankees, died within the past 18 months, shortly after George Weiss, the general manager.

Leland Stanford MacPhail was born in Cass City, Mich., on Feb. 3, 1890. He attended Staunton Military Academy, Beloit College and was a baseball and football player at the University of Michigan. He earned a law degree from George Washington University at only 20 years of age and by the time he was 25, the talented MacPhail had earned a partnership in a law firm, had taken over a tool company and was elected president of a department store.

He rose from private to captain during World War I, serving at the Argonne, where he was wounded, and was a member of an ill-fated attempt to capture Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany in the Netherlands.

After the war, MacPhail moved to Ohio, where he advanced in the business world and dabbled parttime as a referee of Big Ten football games. He paid $100,000 to buy the Columbus Senators of the old American Association and then sold the club for a good profit to the St. Louis Cardinals. In 1934, he was hired on the recommendation of Branch Rickey to operate the Cincinnati Reds.

MacPhail immediately earned his title as "the Barnum of Baseball" with bright colorings, ball girls and his ultimate move, night baseball. The Reds team he built became National League pennant winners in 1939 and 1940, after he had bought a financially troubled Brooklyn team that was half a million dollars in debt.

MacPhail used his business acumen to force a $50,000 deal for All Star first baseman Dolph Camilli and spent $200,000 more in a renovation project for Ebbets Field. He hired Leo Durocher as manager, took the team to Havana, Cuba, for spring training and made plans to initiate night baseball in Brooklyn.

That move backfired slightly when Cincinnati's Johnny Vander Meer pitched a no-hitter, his second in a row, in the first night game.

He hired top young talent like Pee Wee Reese, Ducky Medwick, Pete Reiser, Whitlow Wyatt and Dixie Walker and in 1941 the Dodgers ended a 41-year drought by winning the National League pennant. The war drained his club of talent in 1942 but the Dodgers still had enough to finish second.

MacPhail was colonel in the Army during World War II, specializing, naturally, in public relations. When the war ended, he joined Topping and Webb in a nearly $3 million deal to buy the Yankees and their top minor league affiliates.

It took only two years for the Yankees to return to the top but the temperamental MacPhail warred with his partners and they finally bought him out in 1948.

He moved to Maryland where he raised thoroughbred race horses and eventually was named president of Bowie Race Track.

Ali, Joe Ponder Futures

MANILA (UPI) — The victor and the vanquished in the "Thrilla in Manila" thought about their future today, with Muhammad Ali looking forward to making more millions and Joe Frazier under increasing family pressure to retire.

From Manila, Ali said he plans to leave Saturday for Tehran at the invitation of several Iranian promoters, and perhaps even make a side trip to Frankfurt, Germany, to help promote his latest book. Earlier, he said his trading company would handle a billion dollar export business from Africa and the Middle East.

If he fights at all, the 33-year-old champion said he would not do it for less than $5 million and that in all probability, his last ring battle will be against George Foreman, the man from whom he won the title in Zaire last year.

"I could retire today. Financially, economically, I could retire today," he said. In the aftermath of his brutal battle with Frazier Wednesday which he won on a 14th round technical knockout, Ali said there was a possibility he might finally quit but remained vague about it.

Ali wearing dark glasses, met sportswriters at his Manila Hilton suite, virtually unmarked by the fight except for a slight swelling near his right eye.

"If I didn't pull it out in the end, there was a possibility I would lose. My battle plan was to wear down my opponent as much as possible," he said. "He's great—he's super great taking all those punches," Ali said of Frazier, whom he has now beaten twice in three encounters lasting a total of 41 bruising rounds. "He's a hell of a fighter."

In a separate news conference, Frazier appeared dignified and exhibited his usual sense of humor despite his loss and the visible wounds of battle, including a still partly shut left eye.

Frazier, two years younger than Ali but showing the scars of numerous bouts, acknowledged that the question of his retirement hung heavily over his own family and his camp.

But Frazier said he still hasn't decided for sure pointing out, "I'll think about it a little while. I think it's too fast to make a decision about what I'm gonna do next."

Even if he does quit, he said he would stay on in the boxing business, helping "my boys in the gym."

Frazier and his party were booked on an evening flight tonight to the U.S. via Honolulu.

When one writer asked what he thought of the observation that he made a better champion of Ali by standing up to him and refusing to fall, he said "I'll agree to that. Believe it or not, when I go to the four squares (the ring), I come to work. I come to fight. He's a tough champion. He's a great champion. He done what he had to do."

The challenger said his only disappointment was that he was unable to fight the last round since his manager-advisor, Eddie Futch, had thrown the towel at the end of the 14th when Frazier could hardly see.

"I told my boss (Futch), 'Let me go back to the 15th' but the boss said no, no, no," he said.

Spartans Fire Smith

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Michigan State University started hunting for a new athletic director Thursday amid the uncertainty of an NCAA investigation that could sidetrack its revenue-producing football program.

Burt Smith was removed from the $30,100-a-year post Wednesday. University officials cited Smith's health, rather than the NCAA probe, as the determining factor.

Appointed as Smith's interim successor was Placements Director Jack Shingleton, a 194748 MSU tennis star who told reporters he considered the job "a beautiful challenge" but one he would not accept on a permanent basis "under any circumstances."

"It doesn't fit my lifestyle," he said.

Shingleton, 53, said he will begin an administrative shakeup of the department in an effort to improve morale while university officials search for a permanent director—a task he estimated will take at least the rest of the year.

"I think there will be a lot of people who want this job," Shingleton said. "Michigan State still enjoys a magnificent reputation. It's unfortunate that the reputation of the athletic program has jeopardized the reputation of the university as a whole. But I don't see why this can't be turned around."

The NCAA has scheduled an Oct. 13 hearing in Denver for MSU officials to answer charges involving alleged football recruitment abuses. If the charges are substantiated, the Big Ten football power could be put on probation or otherwise disciplined before the end of the current season.

Smith, 58, athletic director since May 1972, had been among those scheduled to appear at the hearing. He could not be reached for comment Wednesday.

School officials, noting that Smith had recently undergone abdominal surgery, said they were concerned about the impact of job-related pressures on his health and felt that reassignment would be "in the best interests of the university."

Jack Breslin, MSU executive vice president and Smith's immediate boss, described as "completely without substance" reports that Smith was being made a "scapegoat" in the NCAA probe.

Shingleton told a news conference following his appointment that he was aware of a number of complaints from coaches regarding problems in the athletic department but he did not provide any details regarding the nature of the problems.

Gullett, Norman Reds' Starters

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The careers of Don Gullett and Fred Norman contrast sharply, but Cincinnati Reds manager Sparky Anderson picked the two lefthanded pitchers to start weekend National League playoff games because of one very important similarity—both have been hot recently.

Gullett will pitch Saturday's opener here against the Pittsburgh Pirates and Norman will start the second game Sunday.

"Physically, I'm 100 per cent again and ready to go," says the 24-year-old Gullett, who managed a 15-4 record despite missing a couple of months at midseason when his pitching thumb was whacked by a batted ball.

Norman, 33, who has been with 16 different teams in his 15-year minor and major league career, is proud of his 12-4 mark this season and says, "This is the best year I've ever had."

"I guess this will be my biggest start ever," Norman says of his Sunday appearance.

Says Gullett, "It's nice to be picked to pitch an opening game," but unlike Norman he can't call Saturday's assignment his biggest.

Although nine years younger than Norman, Gullett has already pitched in 11 post-season championship games. Norman has been in one.

Gullett's best years are probably ahead of him and Anderson thinks Don has Hall of Fame potential because at age 24 he already has 80 major league victories.

On the other hand, Norman only has 52 major league wins since he broke into organized baseball in 1961.

Despite hitting a lot of "lows" in his 15-year career, Norman stayed with it and was Cincy's best pitcher the last six weeks of this season. He led the staff in strikeouts with 119 and had a decent 3.71 earned run average.

"But going into the playoffs I'm concerned that I gave up the most home runs (23) and walks (84)," Norman said as he stepped into a closed-door meeting where pitchers studied Pirate hitters. "I've got to keep the ball in the park against Pittsburgh."

Norman is the only pitcher on the team who throws a screwball, which breaks the opposite direction of a curve.

"I only throw it about 10 per cent of the time," Norman disclosed, "but the Pirates know I have it and so just for mental reasons, it's an effective pitch to have."

Gullett also has a pitch none of his teammates throw—the forkball. Gripped by wedging the ball deep into the notch of his first two fingers, the ball suddenly sinks when it reaches the plate.

Gullett only faced Pittsburgh once this year—giving up four runs and five hits in less than four innings of a game in which he did not get a decision.

Norman, who yielded 11 runs and 21 hits in 21 innings, had a 1-2 record against Pittsburgh. Reds batters also will face a couple of lefthanders in the first two games—Pirate ace Jerry Reuss on Saturday and then Jim Rooker on Sunday.

First on Firing Line

Two lefthanders will go against each other in the first game of the National League championship series in Cincinnati Saturday. Jerry Reuss (L) of the Pittsburgh Pirates will start against Don Gullett (R) of the Reds. (UPI)

Holtzman Start Twice? It's a Real Possibility

OAKLAND (UPI) — Ken Holtzman, who is scheduled to start Saturday's American League Playoff opener in Boston, might start the second game, too.

The unique possibility was mentioned by Manager Alvin Dark when he was asked again and again who would be his choice for game number two.

"I don't know for sure after Holtzman," replied Dark. "I might have to use Vida Blue to win the first game. I'll do everything possible to win the first game of a short series."

"If Holtzman gets knocked out early, I might even bring him back in the second game. You see, it's different this year without Catfish (Hunter). When you have three 20-game winners, your pitching rotation is set."

Dark also announced his starting lineup and batting order, "subject to change."

The lineup won't be known for sure until game-time, since Joe Rudi may or may not start depending on whether his thumb injury has healed.

Gene Tenace was moved up the order to the fifth spot because Dark said "Gono hits well against that club, and especially in that ballpark."

Gullett also has a pitch none

Tenace's righthanded power makes him a natural to belt the ball well at Fenway Park, with its famed short fence in left field. He had five homers and 14 runs knocked in against the Sox this year.

Tenace was also the hottest hitter for Oakland in September, hitting his average 21 points to 250 while hitting nine homers and driving in 28 runs in 27 games.

Dark's lineup also put Campy Campaneris eighth in the order while replacing him in second spot with Claudell Washington.

His batting order thus reads Bill North cf, Washington, lf, Sal Bando, 3b, Reggie Jackson, rf, Tenace, c, Billy Williams dh, Joe Rudi, 1b, Campaneris, ss, and Phil Garner, 2b.

If Rudi can't play, Ray Fosse will catch and Tenace takes over at first.

Meanwhile, Oakland Wednesday began selling tickets to the World Series in four-game blocks for Oct. 11-12 and Oct. 18-19. Mail orders will be accepted until midnight Sunday.

The A's also reported that 12,000 tickets remain for Tuesday's playoff opener at the Coliseum with 14,000 left for Wednesday and 18,000 for Thursday.

Concert

Classical guitarist Jose Franco will present a bicentennial program on "Concert of the Discovery" Tuesday night, Oct. 7, at the Campus Center theater, Marist College, Poughkeepsie. The program is open to the public by reservation and is under the sponsorship of Marist's Modern Languages Department, the Spanish Club and the college Union Board's Fine Arts Committee.

Hadassah Dinner

Kingston Chapter of Hadassah will hold its paid-up-membership dinner meeting, Monday, Oct. 6, at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will be held at Congregation Agudas Achim, 254 Lucas Avenue, and will feature a smorgasbord dinner and a musical program entitled "Welcome to our World." An "off-off Broadway production," the show will feature the musical talents of the well known group, the 3-J's. Dues may be paid at the door. Anyone wishing to become a member of Hadassah is welcome.

On October 21st, Hadassah is rededicating its Medical Center on Mt. Scopus near Jerusalem, Israel. The hospital on Mt. Scopus was originally opened in 1937, the largest, most modern and most comprehensive medical facility in the Middle East. In 1948, a convoy of medical personnel enroute to Mt. Scopus was ambushed by Arabs and 75 were killed. Hadassah was forced to evacuate the center and for almost 20 years it remained either in Arab hands or a "no-mans-land." During the Six-Day-War it was recaptured by Israeli forces. Hadassah returned to the building, now ruined and gutted by Arab vandalism and pledged to rebuild. For eight years Hadassah has been rebuilding and expanding and on Oct. 21 will open a completely redone hospital and rehabilitation pavilion.

In honor of Mt. Scopus Medical Center's reopening, Kingston Hadassah will sponsor a display in the Daily Freeman on that day. Those who wish to contribute to this momentous occasion may call Mrs. Steven Markoe or Mrs. Harold Breuer, both of Kingston.

The end of the quarter is the beginning of the buck!

It's that time of year again—the end of the quarter. When the nickles, dimes and quarters of interest on your savings add up to dollars. And, because Rondout compounds interest continually, the longer your money remains on deposit, the greater the yield.

You'll see what we mean when we record your interest for the third quarter this week. Where else has your dollar increased in value these past three months? And where else will it grow as much in the months ahead? Where else will the value of your dollar go up . . . and up . . . and never down?

At Rondout Savings—your money grows on you!

DEAR ABBY: An item in your column brought up this question: During a marriage ceremony, when the person who officiates says, "If anyone is present who knows a reason why this couple should not be wed, let him speak now or forever hold his peace," what would happen if someone were to speak up with a reason? Would the wedding take place? Or would it be stopped right then and there?

Has anyone ever attended a wedding when someone voiced an objection?

D.N. AND J.C. AT BSU
DEAR D. AND J.: I've seen it only in "B" movies, but if such an incident has actually occurred, I'm sure that someone out there will write in. Readers?

DEAR ABBY: Thank God I've got you to talk to because I couldn't tell this to anyone else.

I am scared half out of my mind. I think there must be something terribly wrong with me. I am afraid I am going crazy.

I'm afraid of being around people anymore because when someone says something to me, I wonder why they said it. What I mean is, I have this feeling that people say one thing to me and really mean something else.

I have a dull headache over one eye all the time. Sometimes it throbs and throbs. My teachers think I'm faking, and my mother is sick of hearing me gripe about it, so I just keep quiet. I shake a lot and cry when I'm alone.

Now that I've told you, I feel better, but I know it's going to happen again. Please help me. I am 15.

AFRAID
DEAR ABBY: Show your mother this column and ask her to please take you to a doctor. If she refuses, take it to your teacher, your principal or school nurse. You need professional help. Write again soon, dear, and please included your name and address. I care.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married almost five years. We bought matching wedding bands, which we both wore at the time.

I noticed a few months ago that he has been leaving his band at home. He does office work, so it can't be that it's a hazard at work.

I mentioned it once or twice, and he said the band gives him a little rash. I know that the rash goes away in a day or two because my ring sometimes did the same to me.

My question is: Do I have cause to feel hurt? And should I mention it to him again, or should I just take mine off, too, and see how he likes it?

HURT
DEAR HURT: The word from here is: Don't feel hurt, don't mention it to him again and don't take yours off "to see how he likes it." That's childish. Maybe he's gained a few pounds, and it's not as comfortable as it used to be.

Local Activities

The fall season and hearty appetites seem to go together and diners may eat their fill at the Annual Fall Roast Beef and Yorkshire Pudding Dinner to be held at the Roundout Valley United Methodist Church on Route 209 in Stone Ridge on Saturday. Servings will be at 5 and 6:30 p.m. and prices are reasonable. Reservations are suggested and may be made with Mrs. Charles Gilliland at Stone Ridge.

The meal, which will be served to the accompaniment of live organ music, includes Hudson Valley apple cider, roast beef and gravy, Yorkshire pudding, mashed potatoes, butternut squash, special coleslaw, green beans, relishes, beverage and apple crisp delux.

A series on Tracing Your Family Tree will begin Tuesday night, Oct. 7, at 8 o'clock at the Elting Memorial Library in New Paltz.

The lecture-workshops, sponsored by the Haviland-Heidgerd Historical Collection at the library, will continue October 14 and October 21 and will be conducted by Mrs. Carlton Finch, president of the Ulster County Genealogical Society.

Classes are free and open to the public.

Further information is available by calling the library.

The Ladies Auxiliary of Woodstock Fire Company No. 4, Zena, will meet Monday, Oct. 6 at 8:30 p.m. New members are always welcome.

Outdoor Art Show

Audrey Krommenhoek (L), chairperson of the art department of the Woman's Club of Saugerties and Shirley Cyr, general chairperson of this year's 10th annual Chrysanthemum Festival, admire one of the works scheduled for the big outdoor art show on Sunday, Oct. 12, at Seamon Park in Saugerties. The event will be held from 1 to 4 p.m. with a rain date of Oct. 19. The art piece shown is by Myra Hamlin of Kingston. This year's Mum Festival at Seamon Park will be officially opened on Sunday, Oct. 5, with a varied program of events from 1 in the afternoon until 4.

Stoutenburgh Family Meeting Saturday at Beekman Arms

The 42nd annual meeting of the Stoutenburgh Family Association will be held Saturday, Oct. 4, at the Beekman Arms in Rhinebeck.

This site was chosen as the Beekman Arms is the oldest hotel in America and also because its atmosphere and surroundings make it especially appropriate for this biennial year celebration.

The Oct. 4 meeting will get underway at 11 a.m. and luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m. Reservations may be made with James Spratt Jr., president, P.O. Box 156, Hyde Park.

Harry Rigby Jr., of Kingston, president of the Ulster County Historical Society and a member of the New York Bicentennial Commission, will be the guest speaker, talking on the subject "Dutch Settlers in the Hudson Valley and Their Role in the Revolution."

Rigby's knowledge of the subject also is attested to by his being named an officer of the Order of Orange-Nassau by Queen Juliana of the Netherlands during her visit to the United States in 1960.

The bicentennial year project of the Stoutenburgh Association is a fund-raising program to purchase and construct a plaque at the Hyde Park Town Hall commemorating the historical fact that the original settlement was known as "Stoutenburgh" prior to being named Hyde Park.

An association spokesman, speaking on the project, said: "The members felt that this simple recognition would serve to maintain through the passage of time the significant contribution our family provided to the community."

Dedication of the plaque will take place at the 1976 annual meeting of the association.

It is hoped that as many Stoutenburgh Family members as possible will be on hand for this year's meeting of the association. In the past, members from the area as well as the outlying state sectors, have been present.

Hospital Class of 1955 Holds Reunion

The Kingston Hospital Class of 1955 held its first reunion in 20 years in J. Berinato's Restaurant on Greenkill Avenue.

Guest speaker was Alderman-at-Large T. Robert Gallo, who addressed himself to the subject of hospital changes from 1955-75.

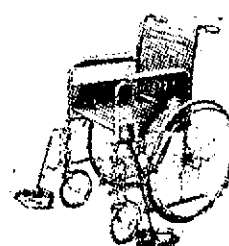

Mary Lou Hines was chairman of the event with Carole Leverenz as co-chairman.

Marilyn Swart is president of the class.

Fashion Show Nears Tickets Going

Have you purchased your tickets to the United Way benefit fashion show that will be staged in Kingston High School's auditorium on Monday, Oct. 13 at 7:30 p.m.? In answer to requests from many area merchants and fashion show fans, The Freeman consented to do a fall and winter show this year instead of the traditional spring show. But the format is the same — top quality fashions with some lucky person going home with tickets for a Bermuda trip for two.

Proceeds will benefit the United Way and its 17 member agencies — agencies that work for all of us.

The show has been cut back drastically as to number of participants in the interest of keeping it within a two-hour time segment. But the live music, live entertainment, sparkling community personalities have all been retained.

Everyone is talking about the new fall and winter parade of fashions, everyone is planning a reasonable wardrobe. Fashion shows serve this kind of purpose — you see what's new and available.

The Freeman Fashion Show is fun time. Make your reservations with Caroline Seitz at The Daily Freeman.

Remember also, the price of your ticket is tax deductible. It's a contribution to United Way of Ulster County!

Couples' Engagements Reported to The Freeman

50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Olsen of Stone Ridge were guests of honor at a party Sept. 27 at the Vly-Atwood Firehouse. The party was given in honor of the couple's 50th wedding anniversary and was hosted by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene (Dorie) Miller of Stone Ridge, the Vly Ladies Aid and Vly-Atwood Ladies Auxiliary. Married Sept. 26, 1925 at the Vly Methodist Church, their honor attendants were Mrs. Myron (Margaret) Guthrie of Stone Ridge and C. Lincoln Christensen of Hurley, both of whom attended the anniversary party. Also in attendance was the couple's flower girl, Mrs. John (Vivian) Carlson of Stone Ridge. Mrs. Olson is retired from C. A. Baltz and Sons, Inc. of Kingston.

CAFALDO
(Glenn Dale Studio)

Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. Cafaldo of Market Street, Glasco, announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Ann, to Donald Gary Tucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tucker Sr. of 162 Market Street, Saugerties.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Saugerties High School, class of 1972, and Richard the First Beauty School. She is employed by Donna Marie's Beauty Salon in Kingston.

Her fiancé, an alumnus of Saugerties High School, class of 1973, is employed by the Town and Village of Saugerties Police Department, Saugerties.

An Oct. 2, 1976 wedding is planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Abbott, 162 North Putt Corners Road, New Paltz, announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan Virginia, to Frank Aucompaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Aucompaugh, Esperence, N.Y.

Miss Abbott is a graduate of the New Paltz Central High School and is a student at Ulster County Community College.

CONOVER

Mr. Aucompaugh attended the Schoharie Central Schools, served with the U. S. Army in Vietnam, and is employed as parts manager at S.J. Reynolds, Inc., in Poughkeepsie. A September, 1976 wedding is planned.

The engagement of Linda Marie Heaney to Michael A. Palladino has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Heaney of 32 Guyton Street, Kingston. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene G. Palladino of 23 Abruyn Street, Kingston.

Miss Heaney, a graduate of John A. Coleman High School, class of 1973, is a junior at Russell Sage College where she is majoring in Medical Technology.

Her fiancé, a 1972 alumnus of Kingston High School, attended Jefferson Community College, Watertown, where he was an accounting major.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent A. Ferraro, Barclay Heights, Saugerties, announce the engagement of their daughter, Veronica, to David P. Holmquist, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Holmquist, son of Mr. 9 Birchwood Drive, Saugerties.

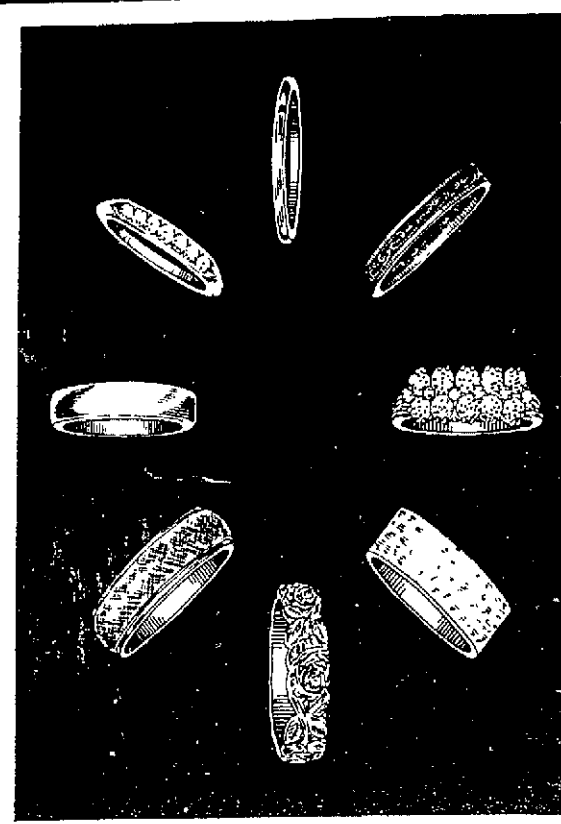

The bride-elect is a 1975 graduate of Saugerties High School. Her fiancé, a 1973 alumnus of SHS, attended Ulster County Community College, and is employed by the New York Telephone Company.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerret B. Conover of Boiceville announce the betrothal of their daughter, Devon Ann, to Robert Paul Jacobs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Jacobs of North Branford, Conn.

Miss Conover graduated from Ontario Central School in 1971 and was valedictorian of her class. A 1975 graduate of the University of Connecticut, she was elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Phi sororities, and is employed by the Connecticut State Department of Health.

Her fiancé graduated from the university of Connecticut where he earned his BA degree in Biological Sciences with emphasis on Ecology. A November 1 wedding is planned in North Branford, Conn.

Strife May Bring Down President of Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Sniper bullets and kidnappings emptied the streets of Beirut today, bringing calls for the resignation of President Sul-eiman Franjeh.

The casualty toll from two weeks of Christian-Moslem fighting in the capital rose to 347 dead and 600 wounded. About 3,700 persons have been killed or wounded in religious warfare since April.

Beirut appeared comparatively quiet Wednesday and authorities lifted a dusk-to-dawn curfew imposed on the city's commercial districts 12 days ago.

But scores of street kidnappings and occasional sniper fire today kept the streets deserted and most shops closed. Radio Beirut said residents leaving their homes would do so "at their own risk."

For the first time since the clashes began, a group of parliamentary deputies called on Franjeh to resign for failing to put an end to the bitter confrontation between Christian and Moslem militias.

The call was headed by two of Lebanon's most powerful Moslem and Christian leaders, former Premier Saeb Salam and National Bloc party leader Raymond Edde.

Salam, leader of Beirut's Sunni Moslems, and Edde, a Maronite Christian, are both political moderates.

The strongest criticism came from Salam, who accused Franjeh of inciting the civil strife by encouraging the militancy of the right-wing Christian Phalangist party.

He said it was "no longer possible for any government to save Lebanon from its trials and tribulations owing to the loss of confidence" in Franjeh.

Edde said Franjeh should resign because he had failed to lead the country during its four bouts of civil war in Beirut and Tripoli this year.

"If I were in his place, I would go on television, admit my failure and resign," Edde said.

Sporadic shooting between the two sides broke out in several parts of the capital Wednesday and three explosions within minutes of each other wrecked a automobile showroom in suburban Beirut.

A national committee set up to make peace between the warring militias was to meet today.

GERMANTOWN

Two 15-year-old Fishkill girls who were allegedly running away from home in a car stolen from one of their fathers were severely injured Wednesday when their car collided with pursuing state police and Columbia County Sheriff's Department autos.

Police said the chase began when a trooper attempted to stop the car to notify the driver that the car's muffler was dragging.

The chase ended in Columbia County when the state police vehicle attempted to pass the speeding car and the young driver lost control of her car, struck the trooper's vehicle, and overturned in woods. A sheriff's patrol car was unable to stop and also struck the trooper's car.

One of the juveniles was listed in serious condition at Columbia Memoria Hospital. The other was reported in critical condition at Albany Medical Center Hospital. No police officers were hospitalized.

Colo. Prisoners Fail In Escape Attempt

ENGLEWOOD, Colo. (UPI) — Two prisoners armed with weapons smuggled into a visiting room seized three hostages and bargained 10 hours Wednesday for their freedom.

A Catholic priest and an inmate counselor persuaded them to release the hostages and surrender peacefully.

Warden Tim M. Keohane of the Federal Correction Center for Youths said the inmates, Alfred S. Rollins Jr., 19, and Henry M. Cassidy, 20, were talked into surrendering by Father Tim Ondahl, the center chaplain, and counselor Paul Ortiz.

"They did the communicating all day and they are the ones who deserve the credit," Keohane said.

Cassidy, of Missoula, Mont., was serving a term for an Indian reservation burglary and Rollins, of Kansas City, Mo., was serving a sentence for bank robbery.

Officials said the incident began shortly after noon Wednesday when Nancy Shoup, Cassidy's 19-year-old girlfriend, apparently smuggled two guns to him during visiting hours. Cassidy then went to an adjacent room where he freed Rollins at gunpoint and the two returned to the visitors' room, took the hostages and tried to flee.

A guard in a control room saw the men with the guns and slammed the door, locking the prisoners and their hostages in the visiting room. Three shots were fired during the ordeal, but no one was injured.

inside the center, nearly 100 FBI agents, U.S. marshals and Jefferson County sheriff's deputies wearing gas masks and bulletproof vests surrounded the two-story building.

Norman Carlson, director of the U.S. Bureau of Prisons, flew to Denver to help negotiate. Carlson said officials never considered releasing Rollins and Cassidy.

"Our policy has always been forceful, very firm," Carlson said. "We don't negotiate under duress."

During the talks with the inmates, a television newsman whom the prisoners requested as a go-between reported the men wanted to escape because Cassidy was afraid he would be killed by FBI agents.

"Their main concern appeared to be that Cassidy would be shot or beat up by the FBI," Keohane said. "We assured them that no one would harm them in any way. All we wanted was to get this thing over with no bloodshed and with no harm done to anyone."

An FBI spokesman said charges would be filed against Rollins, Cassidy and Miss Shoup today. Another man who apparently was involved in the escape attempt also was being sought, officials said.

The hostages — guard Raymond Trujillo, inmate James Wallace and Wallace's mother — were unharmed and in good condition. Keohane said Mrs. Wallace was "highly agitated" immediately after the incident but had been returned to her family.

Conference Participant

MIAMI, Fla. Mrs. George F. Bushnell, chairman of the Board of Trustees at Ulster County Community College, will participate in a conference of the National Association of Community College Trustees in Miami, Fla., Oct. 2-4.

She will serve as a panel member for "Education of New Trustees."

The panel will be chaired by

Mrs. Belle Simon, president of the Association of Boards and Councils of Two-year Colleges of the State University of New York. Mrs. Bushnell is a member of the association's executive board and is representing the state association at the conference.

Mrs. Bushnell will also head a delegation of UCCC officials attending the annual conference of the SUNY Association in Cooperstown Oct. 17-18. Also attending from the college will be George Rusk Jr., vice chairman of the board of trustees; Dr. William J. Hageny, board secretary; Anne R. Donovan, a trustee; Robert T. Brown, president of the college, and William Ryan, college attorney.

A resident of Kingston, Mrs. Bushnell first was appointed to the UCCC Board of Trustees by the County Legislature in July, 1967. Before being elected chairman she served as vice chairman on the board.

Hawk Watch

MINNEWASKA The annual Hawk Watch of the fall season will be held by the members of the John Burroughs Natural History Society Saturday, starting about 9 a.m. and ending about 4 p.m.

It will take place at the high point on the Minnewaska Trail (Route 44-55), where the steel bridge crosses the road.

Dr. Heinz Meng of New Paltz will be in charge of this watch. He is an expert in the field of birds of prey.

Open House Day at Slabides, the rustic cabin of John Burroughs at West Park will be held Saturday at 11 a.m. The public is invited to come see the cabin, bring a lunch and go on a nature walk in the afternoon. Parking is available at the foot of Burroughs Drive after crossing the railroad tracks.

Postpone

INGSTON A review of the Kingston City Schools Consolidated curriculum on sex education, originally scheduled for tonight's board meeting, has been postponed until next month, said Superintendent of Schools Louis A. Salzmann. Salzmann said the reason for the postponement was that the board had not had sufficient opportunity to solicit public opinion.

Salaries

NEW PALTZ A Sept. 25 Daily Freeman advertisement run by the Saugerties Teachers Association contained one instance of inaccuracy, according to Frank Hamilton, business administrator for New Paltz Central Schools. A graph comparing teachers' salaries in Ulster County listed the starting salary in New Paltz as $10,236, reportedly the second highest in the county. The starting salary is actually $9,936, said Hamilton, making the district the fifth highest of seven districts.

State Notes Spurred

NEW YORK (UPI) — In an effort to overcome investor resistance to New York State loan offers, dealers dumped $100 million in the state's notes on the resale market Wednesday at drastically reduced prices. There were few takers.

In another development, an auction of $24 million in short-term city notes for Buffalo attracted bids for only $6.5 million and only at an extraordinarily high interest rate of 10 1/2 percent.

The large bloc of New York State notes, due Sept. 15, 1976, were the unsold portion of $755 million begun last Sept. 10. The package includes loans to help prevent New York City from defaulting on its immediate obligations.

The notes were offered to pay at least 4 percentage points more in interest to buyers. But there was little if no demand, said one trader.

The developments in the bond market reflect the chaotic conditions resulting from New York City's financial difficulties and a ruling that state pension funds could not be forced to buy state notes and bonds.

Meanwhile, older New York State notes fell even lower in price. The state's 5.37 percent notes sold last May and due to mature next March 31 were being offered at 93 1/2. This figured out to an effective interest rate of nearly 21 percent. But, despite the attractive interest, there were no bidders.

Analysts said it is unlikely that any New York debt offer, no matter how high the return, could be sold until the city's financial situation is stabilized and the state's position clarified.

Wholesale Prices Rise: Food, Fuels, Metals Lead

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Spurred by sharp increases for food, fuels and metals, wholesale prices rose 0.6 percent in September, the Labor Department said today.

For the past three months combined, prices have increased at a compounded annual rate of 11.1 percent for bulk purchasers. These wholesale costs eventually show up in prices consumers pay for goods and services.

Although the seasonally adjusted increase in September was less than the rises of 0.8 percent in August and 1.2 percent in July, it was still the third highest for 1975. The September increase worked out to a 7.2 percent annual increase.

The Wholesale Price Index (WPI) in September stood at 177.7 from a base of 100 in 1967. That meant wholesale buyers paid $177.70 for goods that would have cost $100 eight years ago.

Wholesale costs for food jumped 4.3 percent, led by higher prices for vegetables, beef, hogs and milk, the department said.

But even more ominous than food prices, which fluctuate widely and pass quickly through the economic system, was the sixth consecutive month of steady upward costs all along the production line — from minerals dug from the earth to finished products ready for delivery to consumers.

The sharp increase in the WPI during the past three months indicate that inflationary pressures on consumers may intensify in the months ahead. Prices rising at a double-digit rate — more than 10 percent a year, which is a rarity for peacetime — were a primary cause of recession that ended last spring.

Labor said fuels, metals and other materials that make up industrial commodities increased 0.7 percent as a group for the biggest jump in 11 months.

Oil, natural gas, coal, electricity and other fuels for operating machinery and plants rose 1.6 percent. Labor said. Led by aluminum price increases, metals rose 0.8 percent.

Economic indicators which measure trends other than inflation have been showing strength recently, suggesting that factory production and job opportunities are brighter. But the price increase and higher interest costs are dragging down potential recovery from the worst recession in the post-World War II era.

The Commerce Department reported Wednesday that prices that do not show up in the wholesale index are rising.

British Pound Dips Alarmingly

LONDON (UPI) — The battered and ailing British pound plunged today to its lowest level, nearing the crisis value of $2 for the first time in history.

Bankers and money market dealers said it could well dip below $2 by the weekend unless the Bank of England stepped in to shore it up. They said it has done so only on a minor scale so far.

Dealers blamed the pound's drop largely on reported large scale selling Wednesday by an unnamed Arab oil country, which was said to be switching reserves held here and in financial crisis-ridden New York City into French francs.

Soon after money markets opened, the pound dropped to an all time low value of $2.0270. Its "official" rate is $2.40.

Fall of the pound had little effect on the U.S. dollar on European money markets. The dollar improved slightly in Paris while gaining against the pound but was slightly lower elsewhere. French bankers predicted the dollar's recent decline was about over in view of improvement in the U.S. economy.

NEW PALTZ
Trustees for the Village of New Paltz concerned themselves with bids Monday night in a short board session, withholding decisions on water mains and sidewalk work.
According to Village Clerk Robert Remsnyder, opened bids were tabled for work on an eight-inch water main for Water Street and Plain Street, and on sidewalk improvements of South Chestnut Street. The bids were turned over to engineers Brinnier and Larios for review.
And the lucky bidder for a 1939 American LaFrance Ladder Truck from the fire department was Hudson Valley Surplus, with a purchase price of $527.57.

Drinking Driver Program

KINGSTON
Albert Spada, Ulster County clerk, has announced that, effective immediately, the Ulster County Department of Motor Vehicles will implement a "Drinking Driver Program."
In conjunction with this program, the Kingston office will be issuing "conditional" licenses to eligible motorists convicted of alcohol and drug related offenses. The Kingston Motor Vehicle office will also be scheduling eligible motorists for a "Drinking Driver Program" in their area.
Inquiries should be directed to the Motor Vehicle office in Kingston.

Catskill Hiking

STONE RIDGE
Registrations are due today, Oct. 3, for a hike Ulster County Community College is sponsoring to Giant Ledge-Panther Mountain in the Catskills on Saturday, Oct. 11.
The hike will be led by Bob Steuding, a staff member at the college who is well known as a hiker, naturalist and author.
Persons going on the hike will be able to see how the Catskill range was put together. Hikers will see the Woodland Valley in its entirety, proceeding up through beautiful hardwood forest and virgin spruce.
Further information can be had by calling the Office for Continuing Education at the college.

Polish Classes

KINGSTON
A class for those interested in learning to speak Polish will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. on Tuesday evenings in the immaculate Conception lower school hall on Delaware Avenue, Kingston.
A fee will be charged to cover all expenses for the course, which continues until Christmas on an experimental basis.
For further information contact Mrs. Pauline Mancuso.

Ace-King Eases Slam Bidding

By Oswald & James Jacoby
 South can take away the ace-king of spades and still have an opening bid. Hence, in accordance with the rule of the ace and the king or just common sense his second bid is a jump to two spades.
 North has 13 high-card points and is the equivalent of an ace and king or maybe just an ace and queen above a minimum response. He intends to check for aces and then bid a slam, but first he wants to make sure that South really has a spade suit. Hence he temporizes with a bid of three spades.

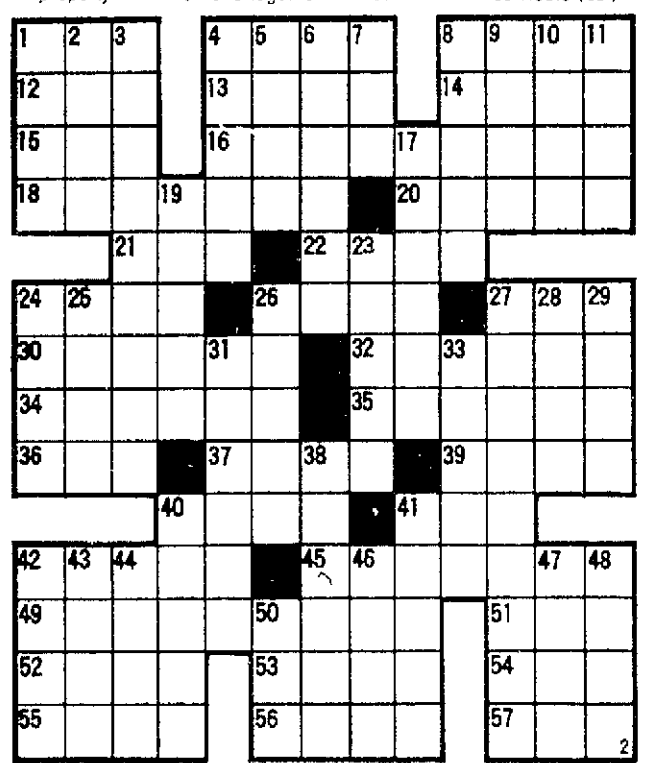

play will bring in 12 tricks. In fact, if East gets cute and lets dummy hold the first heart trick declarer will come in with 13.

Bank Robber, Boy Killed As Police Car Rams Bus

MONTREAL (UPI) — A crowded school bus, commandeered by a bank robber, raced for miles through the busy streets, onto sidewalks and through red lights. The children screamed and cried.

But Denis Martel, 33, on parole for a previous bank robbery, kept a gun to the driver's ribs, and forced him to outrace 35 police cars at speeds up to 85 miles an hour.

A police car finally rammed the bus Wednesday, after a 12-mile chase, prompting Martel into a shootout with officers. The bandit and a small boy were killed.

An autopsy was ordered today to determine if Martel's head wounds were self-inflicted, and whether the boy, Sa Rui, 6, who died in a hospital, was shot by police or the bank robber.

Three other children were injured slightly. Police said the chase began after officers answered an alarm at the Canadian National Bank where the gunman had demanded money by placing a dynamite bomb on the manager's desk.

Martel got an undetermined amount of money, but dropped the loot as he fled from the bank.

Outside, he shot at a police cruiser with a 9mm Luger, then dashed into the yard of nearby St. Andre Apostle school where he boarded the school bus loaded with 13 children and driver Claude Chaput.

"He stuck a gun in the bus driver's ribs and told him to drive," a police spokesman said. "The gunman fired numerous shots at police as they gave chase, but police never fired back because of the kids."

The bus raced through the city for almost half an hour, ignoring stop lights.

Then Sgt. Gerard Verrault heard via his police car radio that the bus was headed his way, so he maneuvered to head it off. As the bus sped toward the intersection, Verrault bit the vehicle head-on, and the shootout began.

Police later disarmed the bomb Martel left at the bank.

Officers said Martel was being held in a federal penitentiary on a charge of armed robbery at a bank this summer in nearby Laval. They said he was inexplicably released on parole from the prison last month.

Patty May Face More Criminal Charges

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Patricia Hearst has been positively identified as the woman who rented a garage that concealed one of the getaway cars used in a suburban Sacramento bank robbery in which a woman was killed, the San Francisco Chronicle reported today.

The newspaper reported federal agents as saying currently Miss Hearst's "only known active role" in the holdup was renting the garage.

However, the Chronicle also said Miss Hearst was connected to the holdup by a "bait bill." The bill's serial number was recorded by the bank before the robbery and was found in the San Francisco apartment where the newspaper heiress was arrested.

A government prosecutor said Wednesday it is inevitable that Miss Hearst will face more criminal charges. But State Attorney General Evelle Younger said she could conceivably escape prosecution if she agrees to take the witness stand against her former Symbionese Liberation Army comrades.

"I suppose it is theoretically possible, but I doubt, as a practical matter, that it is going to happen," Younger said.

He made the remark to newsmen after his brief appearance at a gathering of other state and federal officials who met to discuss charges against arrested members of the SLA.

"It is inevitable that other charges will be filed," U.S. Attorney James L. Browning said after the meeting. He added that neither Miss Hearst nor her attorneys had brought up the possibility she might appear as a state witness against SLA companions William and Emily Harris, Wendy Yoshimura and other radicals.

"But if they do come to me, or come to Mr. Keyes (Dwayne Keyes, U.S. attorney from Sacramento), or anyone, we will certainly listen to what they have to say," Browning said.

In a related development in the bizarre case, an attempt by Black Muslims to get plans of the Stanford Medical Center where Miss Hearst, 21, was undergoing additional psychiatric testing was disclosed by the government.

Terence Hallinan, her lawyer, said she was "hustled" from the hospital Tuesday when the federal government learned of the incident. However, a spokesman for the Justice Department said Miss Hearst was returned to her San Mateo County Jail cell in nearby Redwood City because the tests were completed and not because of the Muslim report.

"We received information that there was interest on the part of the Black Muslims in the floor plan where she was being examined," Robert L. Stevenson, assistant director of information for the Justice Department, said.

Stevenson declined to elaborate.

"We heard about it," Hallinan said. "Allegedly it was the reason she was hustled out of the hospital before psychiatric tests were completed."

Four members of the Black Muslims were on trial here for San Francisco's so-called Zebra murders two years ago. Browning told newsmen that the new criminal charges against Miss Hearst would probably be handed up by the grand juries in San Francisco and Oakland.

Miss Hearst was abducted by the Symbionese Liberation Army on Feb. 4, 1974. She later rejected her past life and swore allegiance to the small terrorist group. She and three other SLA members were captured in San Francisco last month.

There are investigations under way now into two bank robberies in the Sacramento, Calif., area. A woman was shot to death in one. Federal authorities are checking a gun and ammunition found in the two SLA "safehouses" in San Francisco. The ammunition is the same kind as was used in the fatal robbery.

Ford May Extend Tax Cuts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford, stressing economic issues in a trip to the Midwest, said he hopes to give Congress his recommendation "in a week or so" on whether to extend into 1976 this year's recession-triggered tax cuts.

Winding up a two-day visit to Chicago and Omaha, the city of his birth, Ford also told Nebraska and Iowa reporters in a television interview Wednesday security considerations won't stop him from campaigning for election in 1976.

He demonstrated his determination not to let two recent assassination attempts stifle his dialogue with the public by shaking hands in a crowd of 3,000 persons, mostly military personnel and their families, at Offutt Air Force Base, Neb. And he waved over the top of his limousine to a crowd outside an Omaha hotel.

The President returned to Washington to receive Japan's Emperor Hirohito at the White House today.

Ford did not say what his decision will be on extending the $30 billion personal income and business tax cuts.

But he said he was "finalizing" proposals on what to do when they expire Dec. 31, and explained he wants to give "taxpayers a better opportunity to spend their own money."

"Hopefully, in a week or so I will be able to make a specific recommendation for a potential tax reduction program with a rigid restriction on federal expenditures," he said, appearing to tie his program to Congress' willingness to hold down spending.

About $7 billion of the tax cut went to individuals this year. Taxpayers' paychecks would shrink from higher withholding if Ford does not renew the cut.

Congress' Joint Economic Committee Wednesday unanimously recommended continuing the emergency tax cuts. Democrats proposed additional 1976 cuts of $8 to 10 billion.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said, however, Ford was considering only an extension — not additional reductions.

Ford's first trip outside Washington since a woman fired a gun at him in California last week was marked by heavy security. The Skokholm, Ill., hotel where he addressed a group of small town mayors was a virtual armed camp, and police seized two young men loitering suspiciously outside.

But Ford said: "I can foresee no circumstances that would preclude me from seeking election in 1976. My family fully supports my candidacy. They are enthusiastic about it."

"My wife thinks I should be a little more cautious when I travel ... (and) I am using a little more prudence."

The President Greets Hirohito

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Rising Sun flew next to the Stars and Stripes on flagpoles along Pennsylvania Avenue today, as Washington prepared to receive with goodwill the emperor who led Japan during World War II.

President Ford ordered a colorful ceremony, including a 21-gun salute and review of military honor guards, for the formal White House reception of Emperor Hirohito, 74, and Empress Nagako.

Ford and Hirohito, the first emperor in the 3,000-year-old Japanese dynasty to make a state visit here, each prepared formal speeches to be given after playing of both national anthems.

Before leaving Tokyo, the emperor told American newsmen the second World War, which ended with Japan's surrender to allied forces Aug. 14, 1945, was "a tragic adventure."

"It has long been my wish to come to the United States," he told Ford in remarks prepared for today's reception.

Hirohito noted this is the eve of the U.S. Bicentennial when Americans look both back and forward into history.

"For me also, this visit is a valuable opportunity to reflect on the past relationships between Japan and the United States and look to its future," he said.

"Our peoples withstood the challenges of one tragic interlude, when the Pacific Ocean, symbol of tranquility, was instead a rough and stormy sea, and have built today unchanging ties of friendship and goodwill. I ... look forward with great anticipation to the future of our relationship."

Gladys Heading for the Sea

MANTEO, N.C. (UPI) — Hurricane Gladys turned its 140-mile-an-hour winds away from the East Coast today and forecasters said the Western Atlantic's most intense hurricane in 15 years was a threat only to ships at sea.

A hurricane watch for North Carolina's famed Outer Banks was discontinued at 6 a.m. EDT by the Washington hurricane warning office.

"Air Force reconnaissance reports and satellite pictures indicate that Gladys has turned toward the north-northeast and is expected to turn more toward the north-northeast later today," said the advisory. "This course would carry the hurricane well off the North Carolina and New England coasts."

The hurricane's center was located at 6 a.m. about 260 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras, N.C., near latitude 34.0 north, longitude 71.3 west, and moving toward the north-northeast at about 23 m.p.h.

The advisory said that rough seas and heavy swells probably would occur later today along the Outer Banks, an island finger off the North Carolina coast.

"Gladys is the most intense hurricane this far north in the Western Atlantic in the last 15 years and shipping interests should make every effort to avoid the storm," the Washington Weather Bureau warned.

lina coast, where 61 hurricanes have struck in the past 75 years, were not particularly alarmed by the storm. Some businessmen on the Manteo waterfront began laying sandbags in front of their stores and some residents filled their cars with gasoline for possible departure.

"We made the usual preparations," said Ray Couch, proprietor of a fishing tackle shop at Buxton. "We don't get too excited about these things."

At Kill Devil Hills, across Roanoke Sound from Manteo, Mrs. Judy Rose moved her guests at the Holiday Inn away from oceanfront rooms, but said, "This isn't anything new to me."

Only one couple checked out, she said, when the hurricane watch was issued Wednesday.

"The man said his wife had been in a bad hurricane once in Myrtle Beach (S.C.) and she wanted to go home," said Mrs. Rose.

Dozens of campers on the Outer Banks also felt the same way. They packed up their gear Wednesday night and drove inland.

"When you mention a hurricane, you might as well mention a rattlesnake," said Tommy Jordan, 29, a Manteo contractor, watching the exodus. "They look like a locomotive going out of here."

The Coast Guard sent a plane, equipped with a loudspeaker, flying over sea-oat studded sand dunes and marshes to warn fishermen of the hurricane.
